HANDBILLS ASK REGISTRATION BEFORE OCT. 7

Jaycees to Distribute 10,000 Posters in 'Get-Out-Vote' Campaign in Mansfield.

"You can't vote unless you're registered."

That's the warning that Mansfielders will get tomorrow in circulars to be distributed by the Junior Chamber of Commerce in move to interest citizens in registering with the board of elections.

"You Can't Vote . . . unless you are properly registered," says the handbill. Registration deadline is Oct 7.

It's the Jaycees' governmental affairs committee, under the chairmanship of W. H. Oswalt, which is trying to get Mansfielders to exercise their privilege of voting in the Nov. 5 election.

The large black and white handbills—10,000 of them—to be distributed to homes by scores of Boy Scouts, list a few of the reasons why residents must register if they want to vote. You must register if:

* * *

Lists Requirements.

You have not voted in last two general elections; you have reached the age of 21 years on or before November election ;you have moved into the city since last general election; you are a veteran and did not vote in last two general elections (absentee ballots don't count).

In addition, says the Jaycee circular, you must transfer your registration if you have moved into a different ward or precinct in the city. The same requirements apply to citizens of Madison township outside the city.

On the back of the handbill will be printed a map of Mansfield showing the ward and precinct boundary lines as an aid in discovering where the voter should vote.

Registrations and transfers are handled at the board of elections office in the basement of the courthouse Clerk Harry E. Hawley said the board's office would probably be open until 9 p. m. Oct. 7, but otherwise is open from 8 a. m. to 4 p. m. on weekdays and from 8 a. m. to noon on Saturdays

SHIP IN DANGER

Freighter Hits Reef, Calls For Assistance.

NEW YORK —(AP)— The 3,805-ton freighter Half Hitch, with a crew of 35 aboard, ran aground on a reef in the Pacific 20 miles off the coast of El Salvador today and radioed she was in "immediate danger of loss," the coast guard reported.

The ship, carrying general cargo, sailed from Cristobal, Canal Zone, on Aug. 28 bound for various Central American ports.

The coast guard said the only vessel in the vicinity of the Half Hitch, operated by the Grace line, was an army survey ship.

You'll Be Asked For Old Papers

Next week there may be a youngster knocking at your door wanting to know if he can have the old newspapers and magazines in the garage and attic.

He'll be a part of the city schools' campaign to collect waste paper in a pre-Fire Prevention week drive.

The campaign has a two-fold purpose. It will help clean up waste paper around the home where it is a fire hazard and it will provide some additional funds for pupils to enable them to buy some "extras" for their schools.

The paper drive was set up by the schools at the suggestion of W. G. Schultz, heading the city's Fire Prevention week activities. E. S. Fatkin of the I. A. Barnett company is chairman of the school campaign.

Fatkin has announced the following schedule for school collections:

Carpenter, Sept. 23; Prospect, Sept. 25; Brinkerhoff, Sept. 27; Woodland, Oct. 1; Hedges, Oct. 4; West Fifth, Oct. 8; Western, Oct. 11; Newman, Oct. 14; Bushnell Oct. 16 and Bowman Oct. 18.

On the day designated, trucks will appear at the school at 8 a. m. and will remain until 1 p. m.

All scrap paper must be loaded on the truck between those hours. In the event of rain on the scheduled collection day, Fatkin will arrange with the principal of the school for another collection time.

Black Refund Of $613,263 Sets Record

The tax refund of $618,263 to the estate of the late Frank B. Black, ordered yesterday by Federal Judge Robert N. Wilkin in Cleveland, is the largest judgment involving private individuals ever granted in federal courts at Cleveland, the Associated Press reported today.

The refund resulted when Judge Wilkin overruled the claim of the commissioner of internal revenue that Black, one of the founders and former president of the Ohio Brass company, had given more than $10,000,000 to his three sons, Robert B., Donald S., and Roger A. Black, in anticipation of death.

Robert B. Black, executor of the estate, paid $784,637 in federal taxes in 1942 and then brought suit to recover the $618,263 paid under protest. Judge Wilkin held that the gifts, made between 1916 and 1929, were outright, were not separate entities and therefore were not revocable trusts.

Still pending from the Ohio tax commission is a decision on $136,841 in state taxes paid under protest.

FILE DAMAGE SUITS

CHICAGO—(AP)—Damage suits seeking $10,000 each on behalf of the estates of Edgar E. Snyder of Van Wert and Francis McCarthy of Akron, Ohio, victims in the June 5 LaSalle hotel fire, were filed in circuit court yesterday against the LaSalle-Madison Hotel company. The amount sought is the legal maximum.

GIRLS ARE SO NICE: If it hadn't been for the girls, that bundle of newspapers in three-year-old Johnny Barker's arms might have engulfed him. Even so, Johnny and Charlene Moore, 4, did give an early lift to the public school scrap paper drive. Johnny, seeing older boys gathering paper, borrowed a neighbor's wagon, enlisted the aid of Charlene (right) and was doing all right in his paper hunt until 2-year-old Iris Marie Stahlheber smiled her prettiest. Then Johnny momentarily forgot about paper and stopped to play. He, Charlene and Iris Marie were found by the News-Journal photographer at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Stahlheber, 255 Bowland road. Johnny, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Barker, lives at 236 Bowland, and Charlene, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Moore, at 229 Bowland.

ATTACKER KILLS OHIO LIBRARIAN

Police of Three States Seek Brutal Bryan Murderer.

BRYAN—(AP)—Sheriff N. A. Barnes asked the aid of highway patrols in three states today in a hunt for an unidentified assailant who stabbed and beat to death Miss Emily Abernathy, 30-year-old librarian of this city of 6,000.

Shortly before last midnight the body of the attractive blond was found in the basement of the library. She had been stabbed 25 times apparently with a small knife, her teeth knocked out and her clothing torn.

The sheriff said there appeared to be no motive for the killing. Dr. Douglas D. O'Dell, acting coroner, said she had not been criminally assaulted.

The Ohio State highway patrol alerted its own police and asked highway patrols of adjacent Indiana and Michigan to join in a search for a man about 5 feet 9 inches tall wearing a white shirt with blue pin stripe and dark trousers. The suspect was reported last seen on foot.

The slaying was discovered by a library clerk who noticed that the library lights were on at about 11 p. m., and knew that Miss Abernathy was on duty, and investigated.

Miss Abernathy came to this city of 6,000 from Pulaski, Tenn. in May to serve as librarian and had been rooming at the home of Mrs. Charles Garver, near the library, which is located only a block from the center of town.

Police found a back door of the library unlocked and were checking footprints in the vicinity.

Two Parades Highlight VFW Sessions In City

Approximately 500 veterans from seven counties in Ohio will come to Mansfield tomorrow to particiate in the 10th District VFW convention here Saturday and Sunday.

Harvey Burghard, commander of Mansfield's Alfred I. Harrington Post No. 3494 which will play host to delegates and guests from all over the district, today announced the program for the convention.

First to arrive will be members of the Military Order of Cooties, fun group of the organization, who will register at 2 p. m. tomorrow in Memorial hall.

Saturday's program will be entirely devoted to "Cootie" activities, including initiation ceremonies, business meeting, and a parade about 10 p. m. which will be climaxed with a grand "Cootie Scratch" (or celebration) in Central park.

Several bands will lend a festive note to the two parades scheduled for the convention—one Saturday night by the Cooties and one Sunday about 3 p. m. in which the entire VFW group will take part.

Sunday will be devoted to busi-

Firemen Ask To Help You Burn Trash

With dry weather increasing the fire hazard, Fire Chief L. J. Steele today urged city residents to notify the fire department before applying a match to piles of rubbish or trash covered lots.

"We would much rather come out and supervise the burning off of lots or rubbish than to receive an alarm after the fire is threatening property or has reached into valuable shrubbery, Steele said.

"If people will call us when they want to burn off a lot or rubbish we will be on hand to see that the blaze doesn't get away," Steele said.

The department was called out yesterday afternoon to extinguish the latest in a series of grass fires. It was ignited by a rubbish fire that blazed out of control on Coleman road.

FALLS COLLAPSE WITH BIG ROAR

120-Foot Section of Niagara Cataract Breaks Loose.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y.—(AP)—A huge portion of the brink of the American falls collapsed today, shaking this city with earthquake intensity as it tumbled down the 168-foot face of the cataract.

Witnesses said a section of the rock wall 120 feet in length at the top and about 30 feet across at the bottom of the falls tumbled into the gorge with a terrific roar.

They reported that it was on this side of the V-shaped section which broke off in 1942.

Tony Guinta, of the Niagara Falls Gazette, said the blast "shook hell out of the city."

"Our building shook like a maple leaf in a breeze."

'Twill Be Warm For Tyger Game

Mansfield High's Tygers probably will prefer track shorts to moleskins when they make their second football appearance at 8 p. m. today against Cleveland East in Senior High stadium.

The weatherman said the 7,000 grid fans may expect continued warm, and that means shirt sleeve weather. Scattered showers Saturday may bring some cooler but the weather bureau says rising temperatures again are likely the first couple of days next week.

MEAT SHELVES STILL ARE BARE

Dealers Suggest Stores Be Closed Next Friday.

A survey of the city's butcher shops today indicated that Mansfielders face their second near meatless weekend.

Meanwhile, meat dealers and grocers continued with plans to close their shops in defiance of OPA regulations.

Only one of eight dealers queried said he had any fresh red meat on hand at noon. He said he had "a little lamb."

Another dealer said he had chickens and frozen fish but the majority asserted they had turned into butter and cheese salesmen.

O. C. Stanley, chairman of the general committee of meat dealers and grocers, said the date for a meeting of independent dealers to decide the date of store closing had not been set, but indicated that it would be soon

David Sternbaum, chairman of the Monday night meeting of independent dealers at the city hall, said dates proposed for closing the stores had been turned over to the committee. Several meat dealers and grocers were reported to have recommended that stores close their doors one week from today.

Meat Outlook Worse For Spring of '47

ALBUQUERQUE, N M.—(INS)—Secretary of Agriculture Anderson predicted today that the national meat situation in the second quarter of 1947 will be worse than at present. Vacationing at his ranch near here, the secretary foresaw consumption forced down to 116 pounds per person annually, lowest level reached during the war.

Break Spells Finish of New Deal Clique

President Risks Loss of 'Left Wing' Support With Announcement That Nation's Foreign Policy Remains Unchanged.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— President Truman today ousted Secretary of Commerce Henry Wallace from the cabinet and threw his support solidly behind Secretary of State James Byrnes in his conduct of American foreign relations.

The dramatic action removes from the cabinet the last of the late President Roosevelt's original "New Deal" secretaries and a man on whom the Truman administration has counted heavily to attract large sections of the labor and so-called "left wing" vote in this November's congressional elections.

At a news conference which broke up as soon as the president finished reading his terse formal statement, Mr. Truman also laid down a flat rule that no member of the executive branch of the government may hereafter make any statement in conflict "with our established foreign policy."

Without any equivocation, the president said that the policies guiding Secretary Byrnes and the peace conference delegation in Paris "have my full endorsement."

"Our foreign policy as established by the congress, the president and the secretary of state remains in full force and effect without change," Mr. Truman declared.

He said he had had a "very friendly conversation" with Wallace by telephone this morning. He said he regretted breaking a long and pleasant official association, but he said, too, he was sure Wallace "will be happier in the exercise of his right to present his views as a private citizen."

There was no immediate comment from Wallace, who was in his office at the commerce department during the presidential news conference.

Since cabinet members serve only at the pleasure of the president, a request by the latter for a secretary's resignation automatically ousts him—he has no choice in the matter.

The announcement caught Wallace's personal staff completely by surprise. They learned of Wallace's ouster first from news reporters.

It was widely assumed that the president acted under a show-down demand from Byrnes, now in Paris, that the president must choose between him and Wallace.

Mr. Truman's action, coupled with his blunt assertion that "no change in our foreign policy is contemplated," put an abrupt end to speculation that he might yield to Wallace's ideas to soften American policy toward Russia.

* * *

Demands Unity.

"The people of the United States," Mr. Truman said "may disagree freely and publicly on any question, including that of foreign policy, but the government of the United States must stand as a unit in its relations with the rest of the world."

The president said that there was "a fundamental conflict" between Wallace's "views on foreign policy and those of the administration."

"We could not," he said, "permit this conflict to jeopardize

CALLS YUGOSLAV PROTESTS FALSE

U. S. Requests Tito to Halt Terroristic Activities.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The United States today denounced as "false and exaggerated" charges of improper treatment of Yugoslav officers. Simultaneously this country demanded cooperation from Marshal Tito's government in efforts to halt "obstructive and terroristic activities of pro-Slav elements" in the Anglo-American zone of disputed Venezia Giulia.

In a note made public three days after it was handed to the Yugoslav ministry of foreign affairs by American Ambassador Patterson, the United States emphasized that it "will not be deflected from its course" of maintaining a "fair and impartial administration" in the zone under its control.

"At the same time," the statement said, however, "it must once again deplore in the strongest terms the failure of the Yugoslav government to accord in this task the cooperation to which the United States government believes itself entitled."

The 1700-word statement constituted the American answer to two notes of protest from Tito.

Eighteen Survive Trans-Atlantic Plane Crash; Twenty-Seven Die

BULLETIN

NEW YORK —(UP) — The coast guard said today that 27 persons were killed in the Gander, Nfld., air crash, and 18 still were alive.

GANDER, NFLD. —(U.P.)— Rescue teams fought villainous terrain and low visibility today as hope increased that a considerable number of the 45 persons aboard a giant Belgian trans-Atlantic plane might have survived its crash into a rocky, wooded hillside 22 miles from here on Wednesday.

An army ground team had reached the wreckage, and had found some survivors—the number was not known and could not be until the rescuers returned to the plane which had landed them five torturous miles from the crash scene.

Pilots had reported sighting five, or possibly seven persons, at the scene yesterday. And today an American army spokesman revealed that a search plane yesterday also had spotted the numerals "16," spelled out in stones on the ground near the ruined plane.

The survivors will be flown here by plane today. Another plane stood ready to fly those needing hospitalization to Argentia, 160 miles away.

First contact was made with the survivors at 7 p. m. EDT yesterday when a rescue party from Fort McAndrew, composed of U. S. army officer, coast guard search and rescue officer and a Newfoundland guide, reached the scene of the disaster.

They were able to report only meager details to the plane that landed them on a lake five miles distant before the batteries in their walkie-talkie radio gave out. They did not report how many had survived the crash.

Pegler — Fair Enough

NEW YORK—The American Veterans' Committee, Inc., through its national chairman, Charles V. Bolte, has threatened the United States with a repetition here during the coming winter of the English Squatters' movement.

From the legal standpoint, this mass burglary apparently would be much more ominous than the seizure of unoccupied quarters by English veterans. In London, five communists were charged with conspiring to incite others to trespass and with aiding and directing such trespass. The A. V. C. on page one of its official bulletin of July 15 acknowledged that it has been called a "red front" by Louis E. Starr, national vice-commander of the Veterans' of Foreign Wars, but it has denied the charge from this and other sources.

Mr. Bolte qualified his warning in a manner to obviate any charge of incitement against him or his organization. In a general but incomplete discussion of the reasons for the lack of housing for veterans, before the young Republicans club of New York, he said: "Our homeless veterans will take over summer estates and boarded up Fifth avenue brownstones unless we move now—all of us: veteran and non-veteran, producer and consumer—to break the housing bottlenecks."

His principal conditions by which the seizure of private homes, containing furniture and equipment, personal possessions such as clothing, food preserved in response to government exhortations by house-wives who raised victory gardens, and private letters and records, were that President Truman should call an emergency session of congress and that congress should pass the Wagner-Ellender-Taft bill.

* * *

This, he said, was the only way to make use of the precious hours that lie ahead to provide low-cost housing for veterans. That even this compliance with his demand would solve the problem is debatable.

* * *

It was not necessary for Mr. Bolte to elaborate on the consequences of the seizures which he frankly contemplates and without a word of disapproval. Burglary, theft and vandalism are among them. Unlike the vacant housing taken over by British veterans in furtherance of the Stalinist conspiracy against internal peace, the rule of law and the security of private property in England, the American "summer estates and boarded up brownstones" would be furnished homes. Many of them would be the homes of veterans of one or the other, or both, wars.

Mr. Bolte's followers could find encouraging precedent in the occupation of the automobile plants by organized mobs, under Communist sergeants and captains, in the organizing days of the CIO. These vandals wantonly wrecked machinery and destroyed material and their depredations were excused as petty indiscretions by President Roosevelt although there was no doubt that they were incited, organized and directed by expert conspirators. In the case of a veteran whose home was invaded, whose possessions were stolen, whose walls were defaced with revolutionary scrawls, the status of "veteran" would confer no security under the government which sent him to war.

This is, I believe, the first public mention, without condemnation, by any official of any veterans' organization of the possibility that the English squatters' movement would be repeated here. Had Mr. Bolte set his face against such lawlessness, his organization would have been consistent with its platform which disavows for veterans privileges above those of other citizens. Or, if it is consistent here, then it must view with the same calmness a general seizure of all private property.

Soon after the first war a political exhorter was prosecuted in New York on a charge of inciting others to commit lawless acts of violence. In the present instance, although Bolte may have had the purpose of planting an idea in the minds of homeless veterans and may have been the first to do it, neither he nor the AVC could be charged with incitement, even though mobs should take the cue when winter comes. Bolte said, in effect, that veterans would take the law and the property of others into their own hands unless certain other things were done, all of them highly improbable. The agitator in the other case flatly urged a course of action.

The millions of veterans to whom the AVC is appealing for recruits must decide individually whether Bolte and the AVC would deplore the action which he foresaw and uphold the law. He didn't say.

Othman — On Anything

WASHINGTON — (CP) — The question around the Othman house today is what, if anything, are we going to eat tonight?

Turnip souffle? Peanut soup? Tomato dumplings; bean and oatmeal loaf? Braised blotting paper?

Do not snicker, Paul Porter. You and your OPA may, or may not be the villains. All I know, son, is that I'm inviting you out to the house for dinner.

Last night we had fish. It had been long dead. My bride bought it, because the chicken at her market was blueish. So she baked this fish and we squeezed lemon on it, but Paul, it was not good. It tasted, to put it delicately, pale green.

When I left home this morning, my bride was poring over her cookbook, studying the section labeled, vegetarian. Paul, old fellow, how do you like baked pencil-shaving loaf, with maybe Hollandaise sauce?

Clark Shaughnessy, the football coach at the University of Maryland, says his athletes have charley horses caused by pulled muscles because he has no meat to feed 'em. And I visited the OPA cafeteria this noon, but about all I could find was scrambled eggs on top of sliced fried tomatoes.

I mean how are your muscles, Paul? I know you are straining them these days, clawing out from the letters and telegrams from the restaurant owners, the meatless meat packers, and the involuntary vegetarians. Do you think your muscles can stand up under a meal at the Othmans?

The trouble seems to be, Paul, that nearly all the vegetable recipes call for a few slices of salt pork, or bacon drippings, or a pound or so of ground sausage. My bride has done her best. She has bought a can of smoked brewer's yeast, which is supposed to impart to rutabagas a meat-like flavor.

All the soups in her book, except peanut soup, call for soupbones. You like peanuts, Paul?

The main dish is going to be peppered spinach cheese loaf. Without, of course, the pepper. You know about the pepper shortage, Paul? It has something to do with OPA ceilings.

My bride says she thinks you might like the desert: mince meat pie. There'll be no crust, because she has no lard. Nor will there be any meat. What she's concocting for you, Paul, is known in church supper circles as mock mince meat.

It is made of chopped raisins, chopped eggs, spices, a stiff slug of brandy—to give it body—one cup of strong tea. So help me, Paul, that's what the recipe says.

We'd feed you beefsteak, Porter, old friend, if we could. Later on, you have announced, there will be meat again. When the frost is on the pumpkin and there's no grass left, the critters will come to market. I hope you're right, Paul. I hope we have an early winter.

Both of my typewriter fingers are beginning to swell. Pulled muscles, obviously, from eating every night lately what you're going to eat at my house next Tuesday at seven.

BRICKER CALLS FOR WALLACE'S QUICK REMOVAL

Ex-Governor Asserts Byrnes Doing 'Magnificent Job' at Peace Conference.

A flat assertion that "Henry Wallace ought to be kicked out of office before the next sun sets" highlighted an address by former Governor John W. Bricker before a joint ladies' night Kiwanis-Rotary meeting in the Mansfield-Leland last night.

The former governor, now the Republican candidate for U. S. senator, made the assertion after praising James Byrnes for what he termed a "magnificent job" at the Paris peace conference.

He advocated a return of the policy making powers of government to the elected representatives of the people and greater effort to protest the integrity of the courts against political influences.

Scores Bureaucrats.

"If the liberties of this nation, as established by the constitution, are to be preserved," he said, "we must take the policy making power of government out of the arrogant hands of the bureaucrats pressing down upon us and return it to the elected representatives of the people where it belongs.

"We must preserve the integrity of the courts regardless of the party in power."

Tracing the history of the development of democratic versus autocratic ideologies Bricker declared that "the conflict of these views today offers the greatest danger to the peace and security of the world in all history.

Answers Communists.

"Today there are people who are using the liberties of free speech to destroy the very charter that guarantees them that freedom," Bricker declared.

Then, referring to a Communist party pledge "to get Bricker," the former governor continued, "I want every subversive organization to know that our liberties will never be secure until every man who doesn't believe in the constitution and pledge allegiance to the flag is driven from public office.

'Strengthen Faith.'

"If we are going to respond to the trust that men have put in us," Bricker concluded, "we must strengthen our faith in ourselves, in our form of government which has saved the world in crisis after crisis, and in a divine providence.

"That nation which bows its head in submissiveness to God will lead the world out of the darkness."

W. C. Mansfield presided and Blaine Johnson introduced Bricker. Music was provided by Smart's Accordionettes.

FAIL TO ACT ON TB PROJECT

Two Boards Pass Up Building Problems Due to Absences.

Expected action on the county's muddled tuberculosis sanatorium program at a scheduled meeting of the county commissioners and the TB advisory board failed to materialize yesterday when only two board members and one commissioner attended the meeting.

Two paramount problems facing the program—chances of getting the proposed new $300,000 sanatorium built and of obtaining a new lease on the present hospital which expired in July—received only informal discussion, Dr. Oren Beatty, medical director of the sanatorium, said.

"The general desire of those present was to see what could be done in obtaining bids for the new hospital. And there was little discussion of getting a new lease on the old building," Dr. Beatty said.

The meeting was one of the bimonthly sessions of the advisory board with the county commissioners. Of the six advisory board members only Oliver Hartman and Dr. Wallace Buker were present. Guy Stewart was the lone county commissioner at the meeting.

"There may be a called special meeting later," Dr. Beatty said.

Commissioners are to meet tomorrow with Mrs. Barbara J. Nichols, administratrix of the estate which owns the building housing the present sanatorium, to negotiate for a new lease on the property.

Commissioners and Architect H. S. Jones have agreed that the $300,000 which will be available from a bond issue passed by the voters last fall will be insufficient to construct the new hospital now. Commissioners have asked the state health department to include the project in a state hospital survey in order to qualify it for federal aid funds.

Lack of Building Workers Slows City Housing Program

A critical shortage of skilled carpenters, brick-masons, plumbers, plasterers and others in the building trades is delaying the Mansfield area's housing program, the Mansfield U. S. Employment office reported today.

There is a need for at least 300 skilled building workers, while manufacturers of plumbing equipment, prefabricated housing, household appliances, and sheet steel need from 750 to 800 more workers, the USES said.

Some workers have been obtained from out of the city area, but the lack of housing facilities in Mansfield has hampered the worker recruiting drive, C. W. Handley, USES manager, said.

The number of persons seeking work through the Mansfield office of the employment service dropped one-fourth from Aug. 1 to 750 (250 women) on Sept. 1. Many of these job-seekers are over 50 years of age.

The number of persons seeking employment and claiming unemployment benefits has also dropped considerably from previous high figures, the USES report added.

The total number of veterans seeking employment through the Mansfield office declined 70 per cent from an April 1 peak to 330 on Sept. 1, but handicapped veterans seeking work declined only 30 per cent to about 70 persons.

Dearman Elected At Truckers' Meet

Officers of the Mansfield Trucking association were elected and installed at the annual dinner meeting of the organization on at the Fairway club at 7:30 p. m. yesterday.

L. C. Dearman, president of the Dearman Transportation company, is the new president. Other officers of the association include: Howard Bosh, vice president; K. A. Barghiser, secretary, and C. Richard Keller, treasurer.

GETS AWARD FOR BEST POSTER

Judie MacLean Honored at Sky Club Party Today.

Fourteen - year - old Judie MacLean received her national award today for the best poster made by an elementary pupil in connection with Mansfield's Fire Prevention week last fall.

A luncheon honoring the Johnny Appleseed pupil was held today at the Sky club, where the first award was presented by W. G. Schultz, representing the National Fire Protection association. Schultz, who is heading this year's Fire Prevention week, Oct. 6 through Oct. 12, is also head of the Chamber of Commerce fire prevention committee.

Also a guest at the luncheon was Miss Virginia Stark, Johnny Appleseed art teacher, who has instructed Judie in her art work. Judie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. MacLean, 500 Lexington avenue.

Also attending were Fire Chief L. J. Steele, J. W. MacLean, Joseph Prewitt, assistant manager of the Chamber of Commerce, and Lowell Bourns, publicity chairman for the fall Fire Prevention week.

CLOSE MARINE STATION SOON

Recruiters to Leave City After Enlisting 43 Men.

Sgt. Ray Baumann announced today the closing of the Mansfield Marine corps recruiting office Oct. 1 when the U. S. Marine corps recruting drive ends.

Sgt. Baumann, who opened the recruiting station in the Mansfield postoffice July 7 with three other recruiters, said today that since that date 43 men have been recruited or will have been processed for enlistment by the end of this month.

So far this month seven area men have been sent to Cleveland for final physical examination and enlistment and 13 have signed to take final examinations on Sept. 30.

With the close of the recruiting drive Oct. 1 enlistment in Marine aviation will be terminated, Baumann said, with the possibility that short term enlistments of two and three years will also be terminated soon.

Sgt. Baumann said today that the USMC quota of 100,000 men from throughout the nation has almost been reached, and that when the 100,000th man is enlisted further enlistments into the corps will be on a selective basis.

With the close of the Mansfield Marine recruiting office Sgt. Baumann will be recalled to Cleveland where he expects to be relieved of recruiting duty and returned to the Marine air corps after an extended furlough with his family in San Diego, Calif.

Meanwhile, two more area men today had signed with the corps, and will leave for Cleveland on Sept. 23 and 30, respectively. They are Virgil W. Horn of Howard and Jack E. Romig of 98½ West Fourth street.

Avy Sams Rites Slated Tomorrow

Funeral service for Avy Sams, 65, former Mansfield resident who died Thursday morning at University hospital, Columbus, will be held Saturday at 3 p. m. at the Wappner funeral home, with Rev. Carveth P. Mitchell in charge. Burial will be in the Mansfield cemetery.

Besides his wife, Grace, he leaves one son, James H.; two daughters, Mrs. Margaret Bethea and Mrs. Mary Au, all of Mansfield; two grandchildren and three sisters, Mrs. Dorothy Luman of Cleveland, Mrs. Frances Huett and Mrs. Lillian Bemiller, both of Mansfield and four brothers, John, Harry, Lee and David, all of Mansfield.

Miss Yoakum Hurt As Car Overturns

Miss Ann Yoakum, 24, of 158 West Temple court, suffered a fractured collar bone and lacerations of the hand in a traffic accident at 2 a. m. today, four miles northeast of Mansfield on U. S. Route 42. State patrol officers said Miss Yoakum was treated at Ashland Samaritan hospital.

Officers said the car in which Miss Yoakum was riding, driven by Hugh D. Austen, Polk, R. D. 1, overturned at the entrance to the roadside park. Austen told officers a rear spring in the auto body broke loose as he turned into park.

ROVER, TOO—

Getting meat for dinner is a big problem these days, and the shortage probably has hit Rover, too. A big dog munching a bone on North Walnut street today was even worrying about it. He was keeping close watch on that bone, and cast a wary eye on every other dog in the vicinity and even at pedestrians. He seemed to be saying: "The way people look at me, I'm afraid if I took my teeth out of this bone someone might grab it."

DISGUISE WORKS—

Freddie Edmond's just three, but he's determined. Yesterday Freddie went to the neighborhood store to buy an ice cream cone. Before he got it, he started to scuffle with another neighborhood youngster and both were sent on their way without their cones.

Freddie went to his home at 97 West Third street. There he donned his heavy blue topcoat, despite the 80-degree temperature, and put on his dad's sun glasses.

Soon afterward, his mother, Mrs. Ray Edmond, noted the disguise and, as mother's will, exclaimed: "For goodness sakes, Eddie, what are you doing with that heavy coat on; people will think you're crazy!"

Freddie calmed her by explaining: "He didn't know me; I got my ice cream cone."

Succumbs at Home In City

Charles R. Daugherty, 66, died Thursday evening at his home, 429 McPherson street after an illness of several months.

Born in Lexington, Jan 4, 1880, he spent the greater part of his life in Mansfield. He was employed at the Renie Sheet Metal works. He was a member of the First United Brethren church.

Surviving are his wife, Catherine; three sons, Carl, Donald, and Charles, jr.; four daughters, Mrs. Gladys Stone, Mrs. Clarence Long, Mrs. Louis Davidson, and Mrs. Lyle Shade, all of Mansfield; one sister, Mrs. George Fredrick of Cleveland, and one brother, Roy Daugherty of Mansfield, 20 grandchildren, and eight great-grandchildren.

The body is at the Wappner funeral home where services will be held Monday at 1:30 p. m. in charge of Rev. Carveth P. Mitchelli. Burial will be in the Mansfield cemetery.

STATE HAS 56 PHYSICIANS TO SERVE 29,000

Housing Shortage Handicaps Welfare Director's Effort to Get Employes.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Ohio state hospitals are shy 240 badly needed physicians, State Welfare Director Frazier Reams disclosed today in announcing he planned an emergency housing program to attract additional psychiatrists.

"We now have 56 physicians and superintendents to care for 29,000 state patients," Reams said. "We should have at least 290 physicians."

The welfare director said a number of available doctors refused to consider a state hospital post unless they were furnished a house in which to live.

Costs Soar.

Latest blow to a physicians' housing program, for which money was appropriated by the last legislature, came yesterday when the state architect opened bids for two two-family dwellings at Cleveland State hospital. Only two general bids were received and both were thousands of dollars over the $50,000 legislative appropriation.

F. F. Glass, consulting state architect, said the state would need $32,000 additional to construct the dwellings under present bids. The estimate had been set at $48,400.

The plans on which the Cleveland contractors bid were revisions of ones offered several weeks ago at Gallipolis, on which the bids were well over estimates.

So rapidly have costs risen, Glass said, that only two contractors bid, out of 10 who took out plans, and these two were "70 per cent over estimate."

Reams said similar appropriations were made by the legislature for each of the state hospitals but that the state board of control had released the money for the hospitals at Cleveland, Toledo, Gallipolis and Massillon.

Salary scale for state hospital psychiatrists is far smaller than the state's chief competitors, particularly the Veterans' Administration. Superintendents draw the top figure of $4,800 and maintenance and the scale for psysicians runs from $2,600 to $3,200 with maintenance.

Top VA pay for psychiatrists is $9,200, without maintenance, and VA, Reams said, has nearly as many psychiatrists in one mental hospital of 2,000 patients as the state has for 29,000 patients.

The state welfare director said he wanted to change the Ohio plan and pay state physicians adequate salaries and let them either pay the state for their maintenance or get it elsewhere. New York state has such a plan, he said.

MRS. CROFT DIES

Lingering Illness Fatal to Mansfield Resident.

Mrs. Hannah Croft, 87, wife of John J. Croft, died Thursday afternoon at her home, 680 Springmill street, after a lingering illness.

Born in Germany, she came to Mansfield as a girl. She was a member of the St. John's Evangelical church.

Surviving are one son, William Worrell of Rawson; one step-son, George Croft of Mansfield; one step-daughter, Mrs. George A. Hoffman of Mansfield; a grandchild, and two great-grandchildren.

The body is at the Wappner funeral home where services will be held Saturday at 10 a. m., in charge of Rev. Paul H. Saleste. Burial will be in the Mansfield cemetery.

Hold Rites for Ex-City Resident

Funeral services for Jess Albert Carrick, 43, former Mansfield resident, who died unexpectedly in Washington, D. C., on Sept. 17, were held yesterday at the Turner funeral home in Tiffin, with burial in Woodlawn cemetery at Bloomville.

Mr. Carrick was born in Crawford county but had resided in Mansfield and had been employed by the Mansfield Tire and Rubber company for a number of years. At the time of his death he was employed by the government in Washington, where he had been for the past five years.

Surviving are one son, Jac of Mansfield; two brothers, Russell of Mansfield and Alfred of Brunswick, Ga.; three sisters, Mrs. I. R. Jones of Cincinnati, Mrs. J. C. Stewart, Akron, and Mrs. Edward Scheerer, Tiffin.

Amima Club to Meet at Hotel

Amima club will hold an open meeting at 6 p. m. today in the Mansfield-Leland hotel. H. R. Kreisher, program chairman, said the meeting would be through in plenty of time for the football game.

Friday nights will be the regular meeting time of the club from now on, Kreisher said.

SPORTS ROUND UP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK—(AP)—In a year of record-breaking baseball crowds, the attendance for the 1946 world series already will be the smallest in a good many seasons. . . . The Red Sox already have a sell-out for the games at Boston, but the capacity of Fenway park is listed at 35,000. Sportsman's park in St. Louis seats 34,000 and if the Dodgers should beat out the Cards, that would add only about 1,000 customers for four games. . . . That means if the Red Sox and Cards should play seven games they'd draw only 241,000 customers. . . . Last year the Cubs and Tigers pulled in a record 333,457 for seven games. . . . But don't let these figures delude you into thinking the players won't accept their world series checks.

ANSWER, PLEASE.

Paul Hilliard, who hits a ball far but infrequently, played for Galax and Radford, Va., in the early part of this season and then turned to umpiring in the same circuit when Prexy Joe Ryan encountered a shortage of men in blue. At Radford, the left field fence is so far from the home plate that they claim "it's a good drive in an automobile," but Hilliard managed to drive the ball over it twice in one game for Galax. No one else turned the trick until Radford's Ray Mize did it the last week of the season.

Meantime a major league scout asked Ryan one day if any of the players ever hit that far. . . . "No one but the umpire there," said Ryan, indicating Hilliard, who was officiating at the plate. . . . "What sort of a league is this?" the scout demanded. "The umpire bats and he's the only one who clouts them over the wall." Ryan doesn't say how he managed an explanation.

Mansfield-Cleveland Gridders Collide Before Capacity Crowd

OLLIE CLINE-BOB RONDY ELECTED CO-CAPTAINS

Another capacity crowd is expected to be on hand tonight when the Mansfield Senior high school footballers collide with the powerful Cleveland East aggregation at 8 o'clock on the Stadium field gridiron.

Additional bleachers have been added behind the south goal posts, raising the seating capacity of the Tyger athletic plant to nearly 6,200. With standing room also on the available list, a crowd of 6,800 can be packed in tonight.

Ollie Cline and Bob Rondy, both lettermen, were elected co-captains for the East game at a meeting of the varsity squad during yesterday's final workout. Cline, only two-time letterman on the Tyger squad, handles the ball on the T formation and is a top-notch passer.

Rondy, a blocking back in 1945, played guard against Marion last week but has been shifted to tackle to put more speed in the Bengal forward wall. He will start in place of Big Dave Boals.

Cline, Kenny Horvath, Ralph Majors and Bill McKee were the top ground-gainers last week as the Tygers annihilated Marion Harding, 33 to 13. Horvath counted four touchdowns and Majors one while McKee, track dashman, broke loose around the ends for several long gains.

Coach Paul Snyder had his charges in top shape for East but the Tygers will have to be at their best to retain their high rating among Ohio scholastic elevens. The Snydermen tripped East, 18 to 6, in a tough tilt in 1945.

The Cleveland aggregation appears loaded for bear (in this case Tygers) and opened last week with a convincing 25 to 6 win over Cleveland Shaw. Coach Gregory Conly has nine lettermen on the Blue Bomber squad and the East team offense operates equally well on the ground and in the air.

Bill Goettling, 190-pound fullback, and Carl Taseff lead the Blue Bomber offensive. Both can run and pass. They have good aerial targets in Parker Reynolds and Tom Cooper, ends. The flankers tower over the six-foot mark.

Cleveland operates off the T and a modified short-punt formation. Conly has a smart club which made few mistakes against Shaw. Ken Schoff, center, is the spearhead of the tough, hard-charging line which should give the Tyger ball-toting brigade plenty of trouble.

Angelo Gets Crack at Title

Angelo Martinelli earned a crack at junior heavyweight champion Johnny Demchuk last night when he defeated Jack Vansky in the finale of the weekly grunt and groan exhibition at the Armory.

Promoter Earl Myers has signed Martinelli and Demchuk for next week's show. Rough Sonny Myers returns for the opening match.

Martinelli took the first and third falls to eradicate Vansky in the rough main-go. Martinelli took the opening fall in 16 minutes and the clincher in 22. Slugging served to loosen Vansky up both times and Martinelli used body presses to win.

June Byers unhinged the rough Tennessee mountain gal, Elvira Snodgrass in the feature match. Byers won the last two falls in nine and seven minutes.

Two Buck Coaches Get Tentative OK's

COLUMBUS — (INS) — Appointment of two new Buck coaches had the informal approval today of the Ohio State university athletic board.

The board gave its tentative okay to William H. H. "Tippy" Dye as basketball mentor and to Floyd Stahl as diamond boss.

Dye succeeds Harold G. Olsen, who resigned Monday to become coach and vice president of Chicago's entry in the professional Basketball Association of America.

Stahl, a former OSU coach now serving at Harvard, will return to the Columbus campus to replace Lowell Wrigley, assistant men's dean and part-time baseball coach for the past two seasons.

Thirty-Three Rams Make Trip To Oberlin for Tonight's Tilt

Mansfield Madison's 33-man varsity football squad left this afternoon by bus for tonight's clash with Oberlin high school on the Oberlin field at 7:30.

In winding up pre-game practice yesterday afternoon the Rams went through several running and passing formations. Earlier this week Coach Jeff DeHaven stressed pass defense and worked considerably on defense against running plays.

DeHaven said that the Madison linemen were charging and blocking harder than previously this season.

The up-staters outweigh the Rams about eight pounds per man with White, Oberlin's all around backfield star, tipping the scales at 195 pounds.

DeHaven will start the same eleven that opened against New London, but Mike Tormaschy, who played a fine defensive game last Saturday night, will see plenty of action at guard.

The Rams are in good condition for this game and should have an edge physically over the crippled Oberlin team which took a terrible body beating at Elyria last Friday night.

Mt. Gilead After First Victory

MT.GILEAD — The Mt. Gilead Indians will be after their first victory of the season tonight when they travel to Carey to meet the strong Carey eleven. Last year Carey defeated Mt. Gilead by a score of 32 to 0.

Making the trip to Carey with the team will be the 35 piece Mt. Gilead High school band under the direction of Wallace Hard.

One change in the Mt. Gilead schedule was announced this week. Mt. Gilead will meet the Danville Blue Devils at Mt. Gilead in a night game on September 27 instead of an afternoon game at Danville as originally scheduled.

T. Willis, Orange Street Cafe, led the Commercial "B" men's bowling league at the Colony alleys when he hit the pins for a 177-248-242—667 total last night.

Other "600" scores were turned in by G. Yingling, Oak Park Tavern, 245-213-188—646, and E. Burger, Ringside Nite Club, 160-233-243—636.

Shelby-Willard Play Tonight

SHELBY — The Shelby Whippets open the Northern Ohio football league season here tonight when they meet Willard high school at W. W. Skiles field.

Coach Al Fendrick's eleven dropped its opener to a strong New Philadelphia squad last week. The Whippets topped Willard, 18 to 7, in 1945.

The Shelby band will make its first appearance tonight in new scarlet and grey uniforms.

Three other NO league games are on tap for tonight. Upper Sandusky goes to Bellevue, Bucyrus travels to Norwalk and Galion plays at Crestline.

College Football Emerges From Hibernation; Scribe Calls Results of Opening Contests

By FRED THARP

(News-Journal Sports Editor)

Major college football emerges from its war-time hibernation tomorrow when a sprinkling of games will be played on pigskin greenswards all over the country.

Although most of the collegiate squads do not swing into action until next week, the great Army dreadnaught, nation's top club in 1944 and '45, heads the cast of performers who take their 1946 bows Saturday afternoon.

Army—alias Doc Blanchard—Glenn Davis & company—turns loose its big guns on Villanova under the ramparts of historic Michie stadium and the West Pointers figure to win in a walk. Of course, if the ground attack slows down Arnold Tucker, the passing wizard, can still heave aerials with the best of them.

Earl Blaik's team lost only three highly touted pigskin performers and it will be interesting to watch what the Army team does against Notre Dame, Michigan, Oklahoma and Duke who are all back at their pre-war strength.

Army lost Captain Johnny Green, through graduation, DeWitt Coulter, All-American tackle, because of scholastic difficulties and Shorty McWilliams, scat back, resigned.

Taking a quick look around the country and with the use of a slightly worn crystal ball and ouija board here's how the games look to this prognosticator.

Army-Villanova — Last season Army trampled over Villanova (54 to 0) in a game which had the last two quarters cut to eight-minutes apiece. Davis and Blanchard should duplicate the count tomorrow but might need a full 60-minutes. ARMY.

Illinois-Pittsburgh — Pitt has a new coach, Wes Ferrell, but that is about all. Illinois with Buddy Young, Alex Agase and other pre-war stars back at their jobs is the best in the Western Conference. ILLINOIS.

Indiana-Cincinnati—It's a question of a good big team against a good little team. INDIANA.

Miami-Purdue — Cecil Isbell's Boilermakers nipped Miami 21 to 7 in 1945 and that margin should hold fast tomorrow. PURDUE.

Alabama-Furman—Green Wave rolls over opposition in first night game for Frank Thomas' eleven. ALABAMA.

'DEM BUMS' BLANK PIRATES; CARDS RALLY FOR VICTORY

By CARL LUNDQUIST
(UP Sports Writer)

NEW YORK—(UP)—Because they haven't devised an effective defense against the "Atomic Bums" of Brooklyn, the St. Louis Cardinals were none too secure today with their game and a half-margin in the National league pennant warfare.

"Dem Bums" exploded again yesterday with a 7 to 0 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates, putting the pressure on the Cardinals who had to rally in the ninth for a 5 to 4 win over the Braves after the Brooklyn victory had been posted on the Boston scoreboard.

Stan Musial drove home the winning run for the Cards in the ninth after Boston had tied the score at 4-all with three runs in the eighth.

The Phils, playing before 40,007 fans, largest crowd ever to see a game at Shibe park, disappointed the turnout by dropping a 2 to 1 night game decision to the Reds as Clay Lambert pitched a four-hitter. Del Ennis got the only run off Lambert, his 17th homer.

The Giants ended a six-game losing streak with a 1 to 0 victory over the Cubs at New York, Dave Koslo pitching a three-hitter.

Bob Feller won his 25th game, a four-hit, 5 to 1 decision over the Senators at Cleveland and struck out five men to bring his season total to 320.

The Tigers made 18 hits, including a homer by George Kell, in a 14 to 7 victory over the Athletics at Detroit. Don Richmond and Jack Wallaesa hit Philadelphia homers.

PLENTY OF 'SUCKERS?' AFTER LOUIS' CROWN

NEW YORK—(U.P.)—The list of heavyweights willing to risk their necks against Champion Joe Louis still was surprisingly large today and at the top was Pittsburgh Billy Conn, who volunteered despite two previous unhappy encounters with the Brown Bomber.

Acting as a "shot in the arm" to boxing's lucrative heavyweight division was the champion's latest defense of his title in which he knocked out Tami Mauriello of the Bronx in 2:09 of the first round, a time that equalled the third quickest kayo in heavyweight title history.

What interested the aspirants definitely was not the quick time in which Louis disposed of Mauriello, but the fact that the Bronx bartender jolted Joe with a punch that hurt before he went down.

Conn, who telephoned Promoter Mike Jacobs from Pittsburgh, asked that he be given another chance with Louis with his share of the purse to go to "charity," emphasized that he would like to try new strategy against the champion.

"I want to fight him in my own way," he said, adding that in the June 19 fiasco when he was knocked out in the eighth round he had fought according to instructions from his board of strategy.

"I'll fight anywhere in the world; it doesn't matter," he said. "But I don't think we could stage it in New York. I don't think the people there would let me come back."

Jacobs, pleased over the gate of $335,063 and the crowd of 38,498 cash customers, was interested in Conn's offer, but he also had other irons in the fire.

He said that an elimination would be held in the meantime to decide which of the ranking American heavyweights, Elmer (Violent) Ray, Jersey Joe Walcott, Joe Baksi, Joey Maxim or Mauriello would get first call against Bruce Woodcock, the British Empire champion. The winner of that bout would go against Louis, he said.

TAMI MAURIELLO awaits the count from Referee Arthur Donovan after succumbing to Joe Louis' head-swiveling haymakers in the first round of their heavyweight championship fight in New York's Yankee stadium.

First Mansfield Family In Tokyo Obtains New Home After Protest

As a result of protests of American women in Tokyo over the housing preference given to newly arrived families of enlisted men, Capt. and Mrs. F. L. Hart and their three children have a new six-room home there.

Mrs. Hart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otho Hamman, 90 South Foster street, was the first Mansfield woman to join her husband in Tokyo.

She and her three children were living in a barely furnished, inconvenient quonset hut when another contingent of army wives and children arrived and were given new housing units. Indignant, Mrs. Hart and other servicemen's wives who had been there for some time joined in protest on Aug. 21.

As a result, the home which Capt. Hart had rented for his family, was hurried to completion and last week, they moved in. The six-room home has a lovely garden and is equipped with an electric refrigerator. Mrs. Hart informed her mother.

Capt. Hart also was able to hire two more maids for his wife, one of whom is night nurse for the children. Although the Hart family had been eating at the officers' mess, the two little maids from Japan, one of whom Capt. Hart named "Sweetpea," have relieved Mrs. Hart of the cooking as well as housework and nursing to permit Mrs. Hart to enter a Tokyo hospital for a mastoid operation.

Mrs. Hart and her three small daughter, LaFerne, Gail and Sandra, were in Mansfield more than three years while Capt. Hart, who is a military doctor, was stationed in Europe. He expects to be in Tokyo for the next six years.

TOKYO HOME—A lovely garden to the rear adds to the beauty of this six-room home which Capt. and Mrs. F. L. Hart recently acquired for their use in Tokyo.

A BETTER WISH

One wish that's good by every test
Is wishing you may do your best.
—Old Mother Nature.

"Wishing," said the Wood Mouse to young Rabbit who had become his neighbor in the Old Picture, "is a most foolish habit."

"Why?" asked Little Wobblenose.

"Because most wishing is the wrong kind of wishing, the kind you are doing when you wish that you were as small as me," squeaked the Mouse sharply. You know Mice have squeaky voices.

"I don't see anything wrong with that wish," retorted the young Rabbit. Though small he was very much bigger than the Mouse.

"It is wrong because it is foolish, and it is foolish because it is wishing for something that cannot possibly be. There is nothing in the world more foolish than wishing for something you cannot possibly be or have or do. Just why do you wish you were as small as me?" replied the Mouse. He darted out of sight under a fern before Little Wobblenose could open his mouth to reply. A moment later he cautiously peeped out. "I heard some leaves rustle but I guess it was only a Merry Little Breeze passing. I thought I better get out of sight until I could be sure," said he.

"You did and you did it in a hurry. That is why I wish I was as small as you. You can hide under a leaf, but I'm too big and growing bigger. You have all sorts of hiding places too small for me. I still wish I were as small as you," replied the young Rabbit. He sighed. It was a wistful sort of sigh.

Just then there was a faint sound of rustling dry leaves. Little Wobblenose heard it this time. The Mouse disappeared again. Down the path came Mr. Blacksnake. He was very near before Little Wobblenose saw him. Then he prepared to run.

"Don't run," hissed Mr. Blacksnake. "Don't be afraid of me. You are too big to interest me. If you were as small as a Mouse it would be a different matter. You are too big to be swallowed, but I could swallow a Mouse right now if I had one. Do you happen to know where I can find a nice plump Mouse around here?"

"No," replied the young Rabbit, and was glad he didn't.

Mr. Blacksnake slowly moved on down the old cowpath. He disappeared around a turn in the path. A moment later his friend, the Mouse, peeped around the end of a big stick on the ground.

"You are lucky to be too big to have to watch for that fellow," squeaked the Mouse.

"Even so I don't like that fellow," said Little Wobblenose.

"You would like him less if you were small enough for him to swallow," replied the other.

Just then Blacky the Crow cawed loudly. He was somewhere near. The Mouse disappeared as suddenly as he had before. Not until Blacky's cawing sounded some distance away did the Mouse rejoin Little Wobblenose. The latter gave him a funny look.

"Don't tell me that you are afraid of him," said Little Wobblenose.

"I certainly am," squeaked the Mouse. "He isn't as bad as the Hawks and the Owls, but he likes Mice too well for me to want to be in his neighborhood. You are too big for him to bother you. You don't know when you are well off, my young friend. You have to watch for hungry hunters to be sure, but not for so many as we Mice. You will grow so big that only a few will try to catch you, but I will never be bigger. And you wish that you were as small as a Mouse!"

"I've changed my wish," said the little Rabbit meekly.

"No," replied the young Rabbit, and he was glad he didn't.

"What is it now?" squeaked his friend.

"I wish that I may learn to be as smart as you in keeping myself safe," replied Little Wobblenose, and meant it.

"Better," squeaked the Mouse. "A much better wish!"

The next story: "Little Wobblenose Takes a Hint."

Kimes Rites to Be Held Friday

Funeral services for Harry D. Kimes, 59, former Galion grocer, who died Tuesday at the Richland county TB sanatorium, will be held Friday at 1 p. m., at the Snyder funeral home in Galion.

H. E. Hazlett of the Jehovah's Witnesses in Mansfield will officiate. Burial will be in Fairview cemetery at Galion.

Mr. Kimes had lived at 69 Bowman street for four months. His wife, two daughters and four sons survive.

Galion Auxiliary Elects Officers

GALION—Mrs. Charles Tracht was elected president of the American Legion Auxiliary at the annua lmeeting Thursday night at the Legion home.

Other officers chosen to serve with her are: Mrs. Fred Tullis, first vice president; Mrs. Herman Volk, second vice president; Mrs. Fred Essex, secretary; Miss Kathryn Brewer, treasurer; Mrs. Fred Wilson, chaplain; Mrs. C. A. Ernst, historian, and Mrs. Carrie Franks, sergeant-at-arms.

Members of the executive committee: Mrs. George Finney, Mrs. A. J. Monroe and Mrs. Leslie Grissinger.

Mrs. Tracht, Mrs. Tullis, Mrs. Finney, Mrs. William Snyder and Mrs. Ernst were elected delegates to the Fifth district conference at Tiffin this fall.

Mrs. Finney presided for the meeting when reports were given on the Cleveland convention by Mrs. Lawrence Neumann, Mrs. Arthur Stoner and Mrs. Finney. The auxiliary also voted to give $50 to the Galion Nursery school.

CERTIFICATES ARRIVE

ASHLAND—A total of 1,500 certificates have arrived here for presentation to volunteer Red Cross workers who contributed 200 or more hours' of service during World War II. The certificates, representing a minimum of 300,000 hours' labor, will be distributed after they have been inscribed with individual names.

AGENT TAKES OVER

BUCYRUS—Mrs. Roscoe Kightlinger of Galion, assumed her new duties as Crawford county home demonstration agent here Thursday, succeeding Miss Mary Wiseman, who resigned after having filled the office here for eight years. The new agent attended a three-day refresher course at Ohio Stat university before taking over her duties.

STOCKS TURN ERRATIC AS PRICES WAVER

Burst of Purchasing Orders Follows Announcement of Wallace Ouster.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Stocks rallied, dipped and recovered in today's somewhat erratic market.

Brokers attributed early short covering and buying mainly to the thought that the recent sharp declines to lows since early 1945 called for a substantial technical revival.

A burst of purchasing orders then followed the announcement that President Truman had asked Secretary Wallace to resign.

Prominent on the upside were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet, General Motors, Chrsyler, U. S. Rubber, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, Anaconda, Kennecott, General Electric, Johns-Manville, Eastman Kodak, U. S. Gypsum, American Can, Standard Oil (N.J.), Texas Co., and Santa Fe. Pennsylvania Railroad weakened as officials predicted the system this year would suffer its first deficit on record.

SEEKS $3,525 OF AIR SERVICE

Architect Files Suit For Work on Airport Restaurant.

The Harrington Air Service, Inc., was named defendant today in a suit for $3,525. Harry J. Brumenshenkel, Mansfield architect, said the amount was due for professional services in construction of the airport's Sky Club restaurant.

Brumenshenkel charged in a petition in common pleas court that he made an oral agreement in October, 1944, to draw the plans for the Sky club.

At prevailing rates for architects in Richland county, Brumenshenkel contended he should have received $5,000 for his labor, computed on a percentage of the restaurant cost which he estimated at $100,000. But the aviation firm paid only $1,475, Brumenshenkel charges.

William F. Black is attorney for the plaintiff.

Permits Issued For Homes, Garage

Two building permits for remodeling houses and one for constructing a garage were issued to city residents yesterday.

R. S. Krotty, 208 South Linden road, obtained permit to add a room to the second floor of his residence at an estimated cost of $350. Joe Parella of Crestline, was listed as the contractor.

A permit to enclose a porch of frame construction at an estimated cost of $300 was issued to Francis Hardesty, 237 Parkway drive. Charles Hart, Mansfield, was named as the contractor.

A permit to build a double garage of frame construction at an estimated cost of $400 was issued to Herbert Coon, 284 Wood street.

TRUMAN OUSTS WALLACE FROM CABINET POST

President Gives Full Backing to Byrnes; Says Foreign Policy's Unchanged.

our position in relation to other countries."

Standing before a jmamed news conference, Mr. Truman read his statement slowly. It climaxed a week of furore over foreign policy which began when Wallace proposed some changes. The president said first he had approved what Wallace said. Then he declared Saturday that he meant only that he approved Wallace's right to speak.

* * *

Reads Statement.

Here is Mr. Truman's statement:

"The foreign policy of this country is the most important question confronting us today. Our responsibility for obtaining a just and lasting peace extends not only to the people of this country but to the nations of the world.

"The people of the United States may disagree freely and publicly on any question, including that of foreign policy but the government of the United States must stand as a unit in its relations with the rest of the world.

"I have today asked Mr. Wallace to resign from the cabinet. It had become clear that between his views on foreign policy and those of the administration—the latter being shared. I am confident, by the great body of our citizens—there was a fundamental conflict.

"We could not permit this conflict to jeopardize our position in relation to other countries.

"I deeply regret the breaking of a long and pleasant official association, but I am sure that Mr. Wallace will be happier in the exercise of his right to present his views as a private citizen.

"I am confirmed in this belief by a very friendly conversation I had with Mr. Wallace on the telephone this morning.

"Our foreign policy as established by congress, the president and the secretary of state remains in full force and effect without change.

"No change in our foreign policy is contemplated. No member in the executive branch of the government will make any public statement as to foreign policy which is in conflict with our established foreign policy. Any public statement on foreign policy shall be cleared with the department of state. In case of disagreement the matter will be referred to me.

"As I have frequently said I have complete confidence in Mr. Byrnes and his delegation now representing this country at the Paris peace conference.

"Mr. Byrnes consults with me often and the policies which guide him and his delegation have my full endorsement."

Secretary Wallace was in his office in the Commerce building when President Truman made his announcement at the White House.

Wallace's secretary said he was going over a vast accumulation of mail that has been received since his Madison Square Garden address on foreign policy which stirred up the conflict.

It was understood Wallace probably will have an announcement later, but there was no immediate comment. Meantime business went on as usual in his office although the president's announcement hit the department like a bomb shell.

With Wallace out, Secretary of the Navy Forrestal remains the sole holdover in the cabinet from the late President Roosevelt's official family.

Wallace was secretary of agriculture under the late chief executive for eight years, then moved into the vice presidency, was shelved when Mr. Roosevelt turned to Truman for a running mate in 1944, and subsequently re-entered the cabinet in the commerce post.

By booting Wallace from the cabinet, Mr. Truman also removed the gag the former Iowa farmer had imposed on himself, which would have held through most of the fall political campaign.

What the political effects of his removal will be remains for future determination. Republicans already had been making much of the Wallace affair. Wallace, furthermore, has a following in what generally is considered the left-wing branch of the Democratic party.

Mr. Truman's statement had been definitely in the cards since last night. Word had come from Paris of the grave concern in the American delegation over the apparent divergence of views in the cabinet over foreign policy.

Beaver Rites On Saturday At Plymouth

PLYMOUTH—Funeral services for Charles R. Beaver, 73, will be held Saturday at 2 p. m. at the McQuate funeral home here. Burial will be in Greenlawn cemetery.

Mr. Beaver died early yesterday at the Fred Heisler farm, west of Plymouth, following a heart attack. Born near Shelby, April 12, 1873, he had been a life-long resident of the Plymouth area. Until his retirement several years ago he had been employed as a farm implement salesman for Heisler.

Surviving are his wife, Lenna; one daughter, Mrs. Glenn Schropp, of Sandusky; one granddaughter; and three brothers, H. H. Beaver, of Salinas, Calif., F. L. Beaver, of Norwalk, and W. W. Beaver of Long Beach, Calif.

Mr. Beaver was a member of the Lutheran church of Plymouth and the Knights of Pythias lodge.

JOHN W. CARPENTER

LEXINGTON — John W. Carpenter, 76, retired farmer, died at his home west of Lexington at 1 p. m. Thursday after a lingering illness.

He was born in Morrow county and had lived in that vicinity all his life. He was a member of the Lexington Presbyterian church.

Surviving are three sisters, Miss Jessie Carpenter, with whom he lived; Mrs. Arthur Eckert, of Mansfield, and Mrs. Elizabeth Atkinson, of Galion; one brother, Daniel, of Lexington.

The body is at the home, where services will be conducted Saturday at 2:30 p. m. with the Rev. A. P. Bourns officiating. Burial will be made in the Lexington cemetery. The Snyder funeral home is in charge of arrangements.

LESTER STONE

ASHLAND — Lester Stone, 83, died Thursday at 2:30 p. m. at the Ashland county home.

Born in Ashland county, he was a life-long resident here and the last of his family. A number of nieces and nephews survive.

Services will be held Saturday at 10 a. m. at the Heyl funeral home with burial in the Dickey cemetery. Rev. C. A. Helm will have charge.

BENJAMIN McQUATE

ASHLAND — Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Saturday at the Gilbert funeral home for Benjamin McQuate, 74, who died Thursday morning at the Ashland county home.

A native of Milton township, Mr. McQuate was formerly a carpenter in Ashland. He is survived by two sons, Arthur, of Wellington, and Ralph, of Rowsburg, along with a number of nieces and nephews.

The Rev. J. C. Inman will officiate, and burial will be made in the Rowsburg cemetery.

JAMES A. MYERS

BUCYRUS — Funeral services are pending for James Amon Myers, 40, veteran of World War II, who died in Crile hospital, Cleveland, of leukemia Wednesday night following an illness of more than two years.

The body is being returned to Bucyrus for burial.

Mr. Myers was born Sept. 7, 1906, in Bucyrus, the son of A. J. and Georgia Myers. He was united in marriage in 1933 with Bergena Strawser who survives with the mother and one brother, Paul Myers, of Columbus.

He had lived his entire life in Bucyrus and was last employed as a coremaker at the Crawford Steel foundry. He was a member of the American Legion.

TRY TO STEAL 300-POUND SAFE

Two Men Held By Police After Cafe Burglary.

Police today were holding two Columbus men who are believed to have attempted to steal a safe, containing between $300 and $400, from the Ohio cafe, East Fourth street, early this morning.

Officers said both men have penitentiary records and that one of them was carrying a .45 caliber automatic pistol and a pair of gloves when he was arrested.

A car, which officers found parked across the street from the cafe, and for which one of the men was carrying a registration, contained a pair of bolt cutters, a brace and bit, a screw driver and a flash lights, police said.

The safe, weighing about 300 pounds, was moved from the front to the rear of the cafe and was found near the rear door, unopened, officers said.

The would-be thieves apparently entered the cafe, owned by Sam Siciliano, by picking a rear door-lock, police said.

Police arrested the younger of the two aged 35, when they stopped him for questioning about 3:15 a. m. today near the cafe and found that he was carrying the pistol and gloves.

The second man had been previously spotted on Dorian avenue. When the first man was arrested police broadcast an alarm and the second of the duo, aged 38, was picked up on Ashland road.

Some three hours before the two were arrested, Siciliano reported he saw some "suspicious persons" near his place. He thought they were attempting to steal a car, he said. Officers investigated but were unable to find a suspect at that time.

The 35-year-old was pardoned by the governor from the Ohio penitentiary last year after he had served about six years on an assault with intent to rob charges, officers said. He had also served time in the Mansfield reformatory on a robbery charge, records show.

The 38-year-old was paroled from the penitentiary last year after serving time on an assault with intent to rob charge. He had served a previous term there on an auto theft charge.

TENSIONS OF POST-WAR ERA TOLD IN NOVEL

'Double Wedding Ring' Is Story of Typical Family in Modern World.

A moving family tale of post-war ups and downs leads this week's parade of new books received at the library. They will be displayed Saturday and released Monday.

Entitled DOUBLE WEDDING RING, the story is of Minnie Bearing who is the center of a family in which the tensions and hopes of post-war living result in situations ranging from the tenderly humorous to the pitiful and tragic. Minnie's story is heartening in its statement of a positive faith which readers will find both thought-provoking and satisfying.

SALEM FRIGATE, by John Jennings, is the story of Tom Tisdall, a young doctor's apprentice, Ben Price and Patience Nowell, and Selina whose father owned the Salem shipyard. The famous Frigate Essex is the real setting of the story although there are brief interludes ashore. The spell of the Essex draws Tom and Ben always back to the sea and the end of their rivalries comes finally on her deck amid the thunder of her last great fight.

* * *

HOUSE ABOVE THE RIVER, by Michael Foster, is a father's story written for his son. Although it is a family story it is primarily the story of John and Regan. Regan was older and because she was frightened by her own emotions and John's youth, she hastily married Paul Driscoll. Her marriage was unhappy and the solution came only after both she and John found maturity in broader experience.

LOVE FROM LONDON, by Gilbert Gabriel, is a novel about three American soldiers attached to General headquarters in London and Dria, a half gypsy girl evacuated from Gibraltar. Trigger Sorrenson was once a truck driver in Minneapolis; Jose Kort, part-German, part-Mexican is from Texas, and John Wells is very Back Bay Boston. The story is told by an old British actor who changes his sense of values as his memoir of these four unfolds.

Other fiction includes:

JOY IN THE MORNING, Wodehouse; FIVE PASSENGERS FROM LISBON, Eberhart; ONE ALONE, Siller; LODGING AT ST. CLOUD, Crabb.

* * *

THE LAST PHASE, by Walter Millis, is an accurate record of the final campaign in Western Europe from the invasion of Normandy to the German Capitulation. Originally written for circulation in foreign language editions abroad, it coordinates, with lavish illustrations, reports that have been scattered and confused.

GREAT TEACHERS, edited by Houston Peterson, is a collection of portraits of great teachers of the past as portrayed by the men who studied under them. It included such well known pedagogues as Mark Hopkins, Woodrow Wilson, William James, and Louis Agassiz, but also artists and musicians such as Rodin and Franck and Leschetizky

BEATRICE WEBB, by Margaret Cole, is a biography of one of the outstanding women of our time. Together with her husband, Sidney Webb, and others she founded the Fabian Society which for more than 60 years has exercised great influence on social thought and action both in England and America. Mrs. Cole's biography describes how she grew from a shy Victorian girl to a courageous and influential woman.

THE MAHATMA AND THE WORLD, by Shridbarani, and SUN YAT SEN, by Stephen Cheu, are two biographies of great oriental leaders by members of their own race. They should contribute to our understanding of India and China in our own time.

Other non-fiction:

SCARLET TREE, Sitwell, CHINATOWN, U. S. A, Colman; ANGINA PECTORIS, Steincrohn, EVERYDAY AUTOMOBILE REPAIRS, Crouse; COMPLETE CRUISER, Aymar; ELECTRICAL COMMUNICATION, Albert; AMERICAN AIR NAVIGATOR, Mattingly.

5 Transports Arrive Today

(By Associated Press)

Five transports are scheduled to arrive today at east and west coast ports with more than 6,300 service personnel.

Ship arriving:

At New York.

Bowling Green Victory from Bremerhaven, one soldier.

At San Francisco.

Marine Dragon, 1,936 troops; Monterey, 792; Herald of the Morning, 1,752. All three ships from Yokohama.

At Seattle.

Sea Flier from Yokohama, 1,883 troops.

Youth Orchestra Will Tour Ohio

The Speros Karas 15-piece orchestra, composed of high school and college students under the direction of Jim Metcalf, jr., will start a tour of Ohio cities Oct. 5. Their first stop will be at Crystal Lake in Marion.

This orchestra plays for the Saturday night "youth dances" at Grotto hall. In its absence from Mansfield, other Ohio orchestras will take over. The first of these will be the Breakers Hotel group from Cedar Point which comes to Mansfield on Sept. 28. Ed DeWitt, Mansfield high school senior, will be the soloist.

TWIN-ENGINED—The U. S. Navy's XHJD-1, world's largest and first twin-engined helicopter, flies over Lambert-St. Louis, Mo., municipal airport in its first test. The twin engines give the plane greater reliability for safety over rough terrain, populated areas or water. The new machine will cruise at 100 m.p.h. with a load of 3,000 pounds.

AT CATHOLIC MEET

GALION — Mrs. Charles A Ritchey of Galion left Thursday evening for Kansas City, Mo., where she will represent the Mansfield Deanery of National Council of Catholic Women at the national convention. This will open Saturday and close next Wednesday. Mrs Ritchey will be joined in St. Louis by Mrs. John McCrystal of Sandusky, diocesan president, and others from Toledo.

DIES AT HOME

Mrs. Fillutzy Came to City About 3 Years Ago.

Mrs. Rose Fillutzy, 64, of 167 East Third street, died Thursday at her home after a short illness. Born in Italy in 1882, Mrs. Fillutzy came to the United States 42 years ago and to Mansfield three and a half years ago.

Surviving are her husband, Bruno; three sons, Veto and Dominick of Mansfield, and Anthony of West Virginia; four daughters, Mrs. Joseph Fama, Mrs. Samuel Mollica, Mrs. Angelina Sgamblone and Mrs. Louis Bonanata, all of Mansfield; 24 grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Friends may call at the home. Services are at 10:45 a. m. Saturday at St. Peter's Catholic church with Msgr. R. C. Goebel in charge. Burial will be in the Catholic cemetery.

JURY INDICTS TWO

CANTON —(AP)— Two shotgun slayings over last weekend have brought indictments from a special session of the Stark county grand jury. Elmer Barnes, 47, was charged with first degree murder in the killing Saturday night of Doit Roush. The jurors indicted Emmett Meek, jr., for first degree manslaughter for the death Sunday night of Earl Moulton, 34, his brother-in-law, at the Meek home six miles south of Canton.

Families Offered Vet Burial Aids

The Veterans' Administration today outlined burial assistance available to bereaved veterans' families.

The Columbus office said the VA may pay up to $150 for funeral and burial expenses, provide an American flag for burial purposes, arrange for burial in a national cemetery if desired, and provide a grave marker.

Benefits may be requested from the Mansfield VA office, the county service office, various veterans' organizations or the Red Cross.

John C. Fuller, contact representative of the Mansfield VA, said that application blanks also may be obtained from funeral directors who will aid in filling out the necessary forms.

WRENS (NON-MILITARY)

BELLEVILLE, Ill.— (AP) —A work stoppage was caused at the Joseph Yuengel home by a couple of wrens—the feathered variety. One wren built a nest in the water pump, another atop a work shop bench. Neither the pump nor bench, vowed Yuengel, were disturbed until the wrens' families materialized.

VA OFFICE SETS UP SCHEDULE FOR AREA VETS

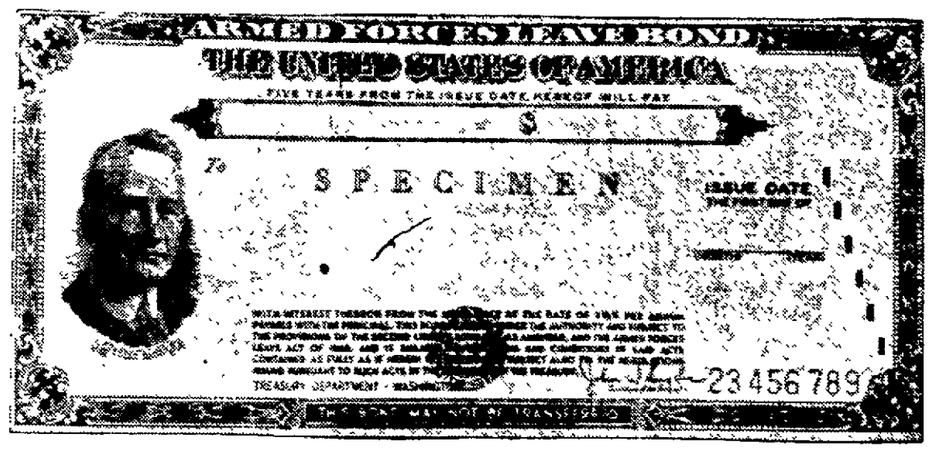
Sends Representative to Surrounding Towns to Serve Ex-Servicemen.

In line with the program of expanding service to the veteran, the Mansfield sub-regional office of the Veterans' Administration today announced a schedule for traveling representatives who will serve veterans in neighboring towns on a weekly basis.

VA representatives will be on duty at the following locations in north central Ohio towns on this schedule weekly:

Galion—American Legion, from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. Mondays; Crestline—American Legion, 9 a. m. to noon Tuesdays; Shelby—office of M. E. Berkley, Legion Service officer, at 41 West Main street, from 1 p. m. to 4 p. m Tuesdays; Mt. Gilead—Morrow county court house at office of County Service Officer L. A. Courtright, from 9 a. m. to noon Wednesdays; Upper Sandusky—County Service Officer's office in Wyandot county court house, 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. Thursdays;

Bucyrus—County Service officer's office in Crawford county court house, 9 a. m. to 4 p. m Fridays; Coshocton—USES office on South Sixth street, 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. Mondays; Millersburg—Rooms 1 and 2 Wise building, 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. Tuesdays, Ashland—County service officer's office, Home building, 8:30 a. m. to noon on first and third Wednesdays and at Ashland college in the College Recorder's office on second and fourth Wednesdays from 8:30 a. m. to noon; Gambier—Kenyon college Speech building, 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. Thursdays; and Mt. Vernon—County Service officer's office in Taugher building, 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. Fridays.



HERE IS A SPECIMAN COPY of the terminal leave bonds that will go to enlisted men of the armed forces who did not receive their cumulative leave before being separated from the service. The bonds will be issued in multiples of $25 and bear interest at the rate of 2½ percent a year. They carry a portrait of the late Senator Carter Glass of Virginia, a former secretary of the treasury.

Fear Professors Might Get Sleepy

BELOIT, Wis. —(UP)— Previously it was the professor who had to keep the student awake. Now Beloit College authorities are wondering whether the situation won't be reversed.

The housing shortage is at the root of the trouble. Faculty members are having so much trouble finding places to live that college authorities are afraid they lose sleep.

WILL PROBATED

MILLERSBURG—The will of the late James E. Halderman of Knox township, has been probated, directing all property be converted into cash and that $500 be given to Florence T. Braham, a niece, of Loudonville. The balance is to be divided equally among the living sisters and brothers. The will was made Sept. 1, 1945, and names Florence T. Braham, executrix to serve without bond.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 20, 1946

The trouble in the Balkans is neither new or surprising. Every country simply wants its neighbors' territory.

There's a report that scientists have found a way to get protein food out of sawdust—the only catch being that there's a shortage of sawdust.

People are getting a better understanding of what was meant back in 1944 when it was emphasized that there should be more care in the selection of vice presidential nominees.

Margin of Profit Is Essential

PLIGHT of restaurants, torn between an OPA roll-back order and high operating costs, is typical of a situation that exists in many other business fields. It results from an attempt by government to make generalized regulations apply to widely varying conditions.

Under ordinary conditions competition can be depended upon to determine the food and service charges of a restaurant, or other eating place, and the success or failure of the business depends on satisfaction of patrons with prices that may be either a few cents or several dollars for a meal.

Now, however, it is Washington authority that endeavors to direct the whole course of food-serving business, which, coupled with scarcities and high operating costs, makes an intolerable situation for those who are required to meet the day to day problems of running the business.

Little wonder that some restaurants are closing temporarily, and that some others are moving toward a showdown with OPA authority by refusing to roll back prices to the June 30 level.

A showdown of the whole muddled affair appears to be what is needed at the earliest possible moment, and if it is necessary to call congress back into special session to straighten things out, that should be done. Apparently President Truman and his advisers are either unable or unwilling to do anything about it.

Steel Industry Still Handicapped

THE STEEL industry recently reached a new high postwar mark when production touched 91.5 per cent of capacity. That record was made despite shortages of essential materials, of which steel scrap is paramount.

Now it remains to be seen if steel will be able to continue the high-level production essential to industrial output in all basic fields.

The country is still feeling the effects of the last steel strike—it cost vast numbers of automobiles, refrigerators and other durable goods eager consumers are looking for in vain today. And other, less publicized labor troubles are threatening steel production. For instance, shipping on the Great Lakes was recently tied up. That may not mean much to the consumer—until he learns that the iron ore from Mesabi moves over the lakes to the great steel producing centers. Without that iron ore, steel can't be made.

Continuous production and uninterrupted flow of goods are the only permanent solution of the shortage problem.

Study of Second Language Advised

IT HAS long been observed that children of missionaries, diplomats, and others whose families grow up in foreign countries pick up the languages of their adopted homes with ease and fluency.

There is no reason why children who attend the public schools of the United States should not attain equal facility in handling languages other than their own, according to Dr. Emile B. de Sauze, professor of French at Western Reserve University and supervisor of foreign languages in the Cleveland public schools. He advocates beginning the study of a foreign language no later than the third grade, claiming that at that time there is no resistance to the foreign tongue, and that owing to the strong gift for imitation in small children, pronunciation is easily picked up.

Dr. de Sauze emphasizes that Americans are, or should be, growing more internationalized every day, and foreign languages are becoming a necessary tool.

The road to understanding of another nation is immeasurably smoothed by a person's ability to speak and understand its language, and a generation trained in this way will be at least one step nearer to the attainment of world peace.

Building Houses of Burnt Clay

THE BRITISH, faced with the problem of replacing one-third of their housing because of war destruction alone, have devised a new building technique. The have lumber troubles, too, so they figured out a way to use slabs of burnt clay.

The hollow slabs are set between steel girders. Notched ends lock the slabs to the framework. The roof is made of clay strips, and the outside of the house is stuccoed.

Such a house, designed with separate units for two families, with three bedrooms for each, can be built in three weeks and costs about $13,000 in England.

Adobe houses have proved durable in America's Southwest, and in other parts of the country structures of packed earth have been practical. The British burnt clay construction may be worth considering.

"AND SOME FELL ON STONY GROUND"

Truman-Wallace Break May Turn Tide In Congressional Elections

By RAYMOND MOLEY

THE ISSUE this fall may, in many congressional districts, come down to a simple question addressed to the Democratic candidates: "Are you a Truman Democrat or are you a Wallace Democrat?" This issue Messrs. Truman and Hannegan will desperately try to avoid. But Wallace is not so anxious to avoid it. And that is what makes it so serious.

The question whether we are to have a Democratic or Republican congress will not be decided on a nation-wide basis. It comes down to a few states and to certain specific districts in those states.

An examination of the 1944 vote shows that neither the Republican nor the Democratic party needs to make much of a campaign in 40 of the United States. The result in those states is either a foregone conclusion now, or the number of seats at issue is so small that it could not possibly affect the control of the house.

The fight will be in California, Connecticut, Illinois, Missouri, New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania. Forty-eight seats in these states were won by Republicans or Democrats in 1944 by less than four per cent over half the major party vote. These 48 seats constitute 70 per cent of the seats closely won in 1944. If the Republicans are to win a house majority, their greatest inroads must be made among those seats. For they cannot win in the South and they already have most of the seats elsewhere.

This situation underlines, once more, the fact that in ten or 12 years a new alignment of parties has taken place in this country. The South remains solidly Democratic; the rural North and West have become solidly Republican; the heavily industrial sections of cities are solidly Democratic-New Deal.

Political uncertainty remains only where these solid elements are mixed. That is roughly in districts which are partly in higher-priced residential sections of cities, partly in suburban areas, partly in rural areas and partly lower-priced city areas. Also, political uncertainty exists in those districts where the North and South meet. This stratification was somewhat noticeable 25 to 50 years ago. But now it becomes fixed and distinct. The Roosevelt-New Deal appeals to class over the years have had their effect.

So we cannot, as was the case before F. D. R., reckon on a gentle swing from Republican to Democratic and from Democratic to Republican majorities in congress. In the main, the normal picture is Democratic control.

Only two big factors can change it. The first is a severe economic upset, for depressions cut class lines. The second is a wide split in the Democratic-Labor coalition.

There is little prospect of a general depression before election. There may be some easing off soon and more economic slowing up later. But it will take more than the recent stock market break to affect the election seriously.

The second factor — a Democratic-labor-break—may well be involved in the Wallace episode. Mr. Wallace, a specialist in hybrid corn and, it is said, in the cross-breeding of poultry—is himself a political hybrid.

He has deep emotional feelings about international and domestic issues. He brought these with him to Washington, in 1933. Mr. Wallace's sympathies are implemented by an active and somewhat extensive intellectual curiosity.

His years in Washington have given him some of the qualities of a mass political leader. He has learned how to appeal to prejudice. He has learned the politician's bent for invective and exaggeration.

Henry Wallace, loose and on his own, could be a menace to the assorted following of the Truman administration. This following is a party only in name.

In any event, it will hold together only during those few minutes while the new congress votes to organize itself. After that, we shall see the coalition of the past session resume.

But a break between Truman and Wallace could well drive this division into the electorate and tip the balance in the close districts mentioned above. That is why Republicans have so quickly seized upon this sign of dissention.

Farmer's Diary: "Wanted, Another McGuffey."

"THERE is noticeable a similarity between the educational ideals of Wm. Holmes McGuffey and the principles which underlie the Grange," says editor Joseph Fichter, in Ohio State Grange Monthly. Then follows a resume of an address by Dr. Ernest H. Hahne, president of Miami university, before the annual meeting of McGuffey societies.

"William Holmes McGuffey was one of the great educational leaders of his day. Today, America and the world, might well advertise, 'Wanted—Another McGuffey.' During the industrial revolution of the 18th and 19th centuries, education moved forward at a calm and steady pace. Now that civilization has been hurled like lightning into the atomic revolution, there is need for another educational leader of vision, height of aspiration, and depth of insight such as William Holmes McGuffey.

"America prides herself on her Ureys, Comptons, Andersons and Lawrences . . . atomic fissionists that turned pure theory into reality. But are these pre-eminent scientists educational leaders? No—because science is but one of many phases of education. Today there is need for a leader who can revivify interest in art, literature, language, ethics, philosophy, economics, politics . . . a leader of world vision paralleling for the world what McGuffey accomplished for these United States.

"McGuffey popularized the first of the three R's. He not only taught reading, but he taught proper pronunciation at a time when dialects could have swept the land. It is no accident that radio commentators from coast to coast today use the pronunciation of the 'Valley of Democracy.'

"He taught not only how to read but also what to read. The literary merit of the selections that dominate the Eclectic Readers has become the basis for close assignments in American and English literature is not a few colleges and universities. Again he taught purpose in reading . . . his selections emphasized moral and religious values, life-philosophies, human sympathies, traits of kindness and those elements of wisdom that Aristotle termed the eternal virtues . . . McGuffey portrayed the literary and spiritual values of the Bible. It is my casual opinion that American youth of 1946 possess an abysmal ignorance of the greatest of all books and that this ignorance is traceable to definite efforts to suppress the Bible in our public schools.

"The atomic age is dawning . . . whether it holds in store for mankind a good life, depends partly upon continued mastery of science, but equally upon the dawn of a new renaissance and reformation in human hearts and minds. It was the 'good life' for which McGuffey took his stand . . . defined by Bertrand Russell as 'The life guided by knowledge and inspired by love.' Knowledge and love and wisdom are not materials made with hands. Conditions have changed, but the world needs a teacher and educational leader who will point the way as did McGuffey to the good life."

Long Meat Shortage Will Affect Supply of Important Medicines

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—While American housewives are worrying about where the next lamb chop is coming from, U. S. public health officials have another—and much deeper—concern about the current meat shortage.

The meat supply indirectly controls two medicines on which the lives of thousands are dependent—insulin and adrenalin.

Insulin, used in the treatment of diabetics, is derived solely from the pancreatic glands of slaughtered animals, while adrenalin, the heart stimulant, is obtained from the suprarenal glands.

The public health service and the Civilian Production administration do not fear a serious shortage of these critical drugs in the near future, but should the meat shortage continue into the winter, the problem of producing enough insulin and adrenalin could become very serious.

A prolonged meat shortage also would seriously affect the supply of still another important medicine—thyroid extracts, derived entirely from the thyroid glands of sheep. In fact, the meat shortage, and especially the black market, have far-reaching effects which few people realize.

Blood for Plywood.

Even housing is affected. For instance the current shortage of plywood has become so serious, due to lack of animal blood and the black market, that Housing Administrator Wilson Wyatt recently urged the commerce department to endeavor to step up blood imports from Canada.

However, Canada needs most of this important slaughter by-product as an ingredient in making high protein feeds for animals and can spare us only 10,000 pounds of animal blood a month, far from enough to answer plywood needs in the United States.

So when you patronize the black market remember that the man who killed the steer that supplied you your steak, wasted the blood, the pancreatic glands and most of the other important by-products so badly needed by the nation.

Wanted: "Good Brain Trust."

How far they'll get with it is doubtful, but cabinet circles very much hope President Truman will take a leaf from his Wallace-speech error and surround himself with some live-wire, quick-thinking advisers.

One good press secretary alone would have saved him the Wallace blunder.

If Steve Early, Roosevelt's old press attache had been in the White House, he would have cracked down on his boss even in the middle of a press conference and kept him from endorsing the Wallace speech.

Handling the press is a tough job for any president. Even Roosevelt, despite his rapier-repartee, had his ups and downs; while the three Republican presidents before him didn't even attempt to answer oral questions. Most people have forgotten it, but Harding, Coolidge and Hoover all required press questions to be submitted in writing.

This came about in a manner not unlike Truman's blunder on the Wallace speech.

Woodrow Wilson had permitted oral questions, and Harding attempted to continue the practice. Anxious to please but slow on the uptake, Harding made one world-shaking error during the Washington Arms Conference when he was asked whether the 4-power pact, banning island fortifications in the Pacific, applied to the main islands of Japan. Harding said they did. In other words, Japan could not fortify her mainland.

Result: 1. Charles Evans Hughes had to issue a statement formally correcting the president of the United States; 2. A special protocol had to be attached to the treaty guaranteeing Japan's right to fortify her mainland.

Coolidge's "Spooksman."

After that Harding required press-conference questions to be submitted in writing. Coolidge continued this system with the proviso that questions be handed in one hour in advance. Coolidge also concocted the "White House spokesman" frequently called "spooksman" because actually no spokesman existed. The spokesman was Coolidge himself, though the reading public got the idea that a press secretary was speaking for the president.

Hoover required questions to be handed in 24 hours in advance, but even then he didn't answer more than half of them.

In contrast, Roosevelt's free-and-easy system of answering almost any and all questions orally was revolutionary. Even he, however, dodged many foreign affairs questions or referred them to the state department.

Truman has tried to keep up this fast pace. It is no reflection upon any president, however, that press relations are difficult and that he sometimes makes mistakes.

Entirely aside from press relations, however, Truman for a long time has successfully resisted cabinet urging to surround himself with an alert brain trust. Some of the men close to Truman couldn't have qualified as doorknob polishers under Roosevelt. Whether you agreed with FDR or not, he had some of the brightest, hardest-working advisers ever seen in Washington.

No president can do everything, and Truman is no exception. The fact that he doesn't surround himself with the best brains in the nation merely means that the nation suffers.

Effect of Politics on Foreign Policy.

WASHINGTON—L'Affaire Henry Wallace continues to stir interest and provoke debate, and naturally so.

One point frequently raised, and by some who know better, is worth noting because of its naivete. This is the criticism that the secretary of commerce took foreign affairs into politics, as if that were a crime. He did, and intentionally.

Foreign affairs is hip-deep in politics in this country. It always has been. It always will be.

From now on, this undoubtedly will be more true than ever, or should be, for our world has contracted so that what happens elsewhere affects everyone of us. It is truly a crossroads issue.

It is in politics, irrespective of Henry Wallace and what he said at Madison Square Garden. The reason is simple. We are having an election in a few weeks in which we will choose a house of representatives and a third of the senate, our first election since the war.

Congress will have much to do with the course of our foreign affairs in the next two years, as it has in the past. It is nice to say that it shouldn't become a controversial issue, but it will and must. Look back at what happened in the last congress.

There was, for example, a division—with some stiff and sizable Republican opposition—on measures that were a definite part of a program of international co-operation, and essential to its success. Among them were the reciprocal tariff program, extension of selective service, the British loan.

Anyone who watched those battles closely knows they were won only after hard work, for there were some few Democratic defections to make the issue critical. A defeat in any one of them, and others on related matters, would have taken us back toward isolationism.

These issues will persist in other forms or perhaps even in the same forms if there is a decided reaction. Henry Wallace knows that and do so those who watched those battles. They are issues on which you will vote in November.

Foreign affairs was an issue in primaries in some key contests. It was that issue largely, for example, that defeated two leading isolationists, Senators Shipstead (R., Minn.) and Wheeler (D., Mont.)

There was a sort of truce on foreign affairs in the 1944 presidental election. Governor Dewey commendably went along with President Roosevelt on the fundamental issue of international cooperation. Mr. Roosevelt, himself, was effective in bringing agreement among Democratic and Republican leaders in the senate on the basic issue of international cooperation, with the help of former Secretary Cordell Hull. This produced the happy result of a sweeping victory for the United Nations.

But thereafter in congress the truce went off on various essential measures, without which UN would have been a useless mechanism.

As a matter of fact, many Republicans in congress never have followed their presidential candidates on foreign policy. This was demonstrated both in the cases of Wendell Willkie and Governor Dewey.

Partisanship, it is said, should stop at the water's edge. Very good. But foreign policy is made in what happens this side of the water's edge, here at home, in congress and elsewhere. It is for the decision of the people.

Marquis Childs

Sympathetic Estimate of Henry A. Wallace

WASHINGTON — "Storm Over Henry" is a drama which has had many repeat performances here in the capital, and invariably it packs the house with an audience that is astonished if not always pleased.

The shy, shambling man who stepped out onto the world stage the other day is a puzzle to most Americans. Perhaps that is why they hurl so many verbal brickbats at Henry Wallace when he speaks his convictions.

"Communist," "radcal," "dreamer," "crank," "crackpot" — these are some of the milder epithets poured on him. His admirers are almost equally extravagant in the opposite direction. This paradoxical figure is a noble hero to his friends and a black villain to his enemies.

If you had to describe the man in a single word, it might be "philosopher". That, it seems to me, is primarily what he is.

Although, as part of the paradox, he packs along with his philosophy a great deal of practical knowledge, plus a highly specialized background in certain fields, such as plant breeding.

An important element in Wallace's make-up is his religion. A deeply religious man—not merely in the sense of a faithful churchgoer, which he is—Wallace has a deep strain of mysticism. This mysticism has sometimes led him into strange and unorthodox bypaths.

His introspection, his pre-occupation with the philosophic and the mystic, helps to explain why in his dealings with human beings, particularly on the political level, he often appears bumbling and inept. When he left the senate, after presiding over the intimate cult as vice president for four years, not one voice was raised in tribute or even in friendly farewell.

Edna St. Vincent Millay, in one of her poetic dramas, has a character say: "I love humanity but I hate people." Henry Wallace is too much a Christian to hate, but he does find people hard to contend with. And he does love humanity.

When he returned in June, 1944, from his Far Eastern trip, Wallace for the first time sat down to have a heart-to-heart talk with Democratic Chairman Robert Hannegan, who was stoutly opposed to Wallace's renomination as vice president.

In that encounter, Wallace showed himself wholly unable to cope with the hard-boiled politician. He was so overcome by the discomfiture he felt that, as Hannegan described it, he giggled like a shy schoolgirl.

Even though his whole career turned on it, he could not come out with the kind of show-down talk that might have won Hannegan over.

Wallace's conviction about Soviet Russia is part and parcel of the man.

He is persuaded that the objectives of the Soviet Union are good, and he has not looked too closely into the means used to obtain what he believes to be good ends.

Senator Claude Pepper of Florida, the other speaker at the recent New York rally, can turn on the pro-Russian tap with political fluency. The easy words come rolling out as the Florida senator rides the left-wing wave.

Not so, Wallace. While he has made minor bows in the direction of political expediency, this stiff-backed, lonely man from Iowa must wrestle with himself and his beliefs in solitude.

Favors OPA Price Control.

Editor News-Journal:

I read with interest of 63 meat dealers "protesting." I wonder if at this meeting the public was represented. I, for one, am willing to go meatless if I have to pay more than I have, for the prices were, and are, terrible.

People who sign the petitions the meat dealer has on his counter are bringing about more inflation. Let these meat dealers go out of business if they wish. Let them learn what it is to earn their living in a factory or shop.

I, for one, am tired of the high prices and poor quality, and "the customer is always wrong" attitude, and poor service. Wages have not gone up, and I can't see why we should pay more to butchers. We, the public, should have something to say. We have been told time and again that to avoid inflation we should not buy anything we can do without if prices are outrageous.

If people all over the [illegible] can bear it, why can't we here continue to have OPA control . . . [illegible] is Mansfield any different?

A Little Girl Starts To School

AN APPEALING plea for careful driving is contained in this month's issue of the Mansfield Chamber of Commerce Bulletin. It was taken, in turn, from the Bulletin at Janesville, Wis.

The plea deserves even wider reading than by C. of C. members. Here it is:

Dear Mansfield Friends:

My daughter, Mary, started to school this morning. As she walked off with the boy from across the street, a third grader, she seemed so tiny and frail to be starting the long journey to education.

She looked quite cute the way her mother had her dressed in a little outfit she had been saving for this occasion lo, these many months. So eager was she for this adventure that she could hardly take time to kiss me goodbye. Her starry blue eyes were open wider than ever. So far, those baby blue eyes are only amazed and intrigued by the every-day things of life and have yet to grasp the meaning of the sordid things.

Tonight at the dinner table she was bursting with the news of the day. She's asleep now. As I tucked the covers around her she reached out and drew her rag doll, "Zinny," to her. I watched as a wistful smile played across her face and her red curls formed a flaming halo around her head.

Yes, she's safe in her bed tonight and my constant prayer is that she will return safely each night.

Will you help me, Mr. Motorist?—Please! You can, if you will keep your eye out for her and drive just a wee bit slower and be as careful as you can.

I can't be with her all the time, but I have talked to her about the dangers in crossing the streets; I explained to her about the red and green lights; I have asked her not to play in the streets. She obeys me as well as can be expected of a tyke her size and age, but she's as agile as a chipmunk and when she gets excited in her play she darts thither and yon. I love her, and for all the world I want her to grow up to be a fine, strong, healthy American girl.

You will then, won't you, be on the lookout for her, yes, and for all the hundreds of other little American citizens-in-the-making? Thank you so much.

Sincerely,
A DADDY.

Ruth Keller, James N. Jones Wed; Reveal Other Marriages

MILLERSBURG—The wedding of Miss Ruth Keller, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. George E. Keller, South Clay street and James Nelson Jones, son of Mrs. James Jones, sr., Shanesville, took place in the First Presbyterian church here Sept. 15, at 3:30 o'clock.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Jesse Young.

Preceding the ceremony a recital of marimba music was played by Mrs. Doris Keller McClelland, sister of the bride.

The bride wore a two-piece white wool suit with a peplum decorated with trapunto embroidery with gold nail head trim. With it she wore a gold sequin hat with a gold veil with ostrick feathers. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls of her grandmother, the late Mrs. John Redington. Her corsage was made up of white roses.

The bride was attended by Mrs. Cole McClelland and Paul Jones, brother of the groom served as best man.

Patricia McClelland and Tommy McClelland, niece and nephew of the bride strewed rose petals from baskets in the path of the bride.

Ushers were Ralph Keller, brother of the bride and Robert Brown, Columbus.

After the wedding there was a reception at the home of the bride.

After the reception the newlyweds left on a trip through the Smoky mountains. When they return they will go to their apartment in Columbus, where Mr. Jones is at Ohio State university, enrolled as a senior in the department of dairy technology. After graduating from the Sugarcreek-Shanesville high school, he served 33 months of which 15 months was spent in the ETO.

The bride was graduated from Millersburg high school and from Muskingum college, New Concord. During her junior year in college she attended O. S. U. For the past two years she has taught home economics and English in the Clark Consolidated school.

Barclay On Bridge

ONE NEAT instrument for getting big scores is the "trap pass" In most cases, it consists of letting an opponent's opening bid go by, in the hope that his side will get into trouble and you can double it. That is fancy business at all times, if you have a hand which calls for some kind of active call It is foolhardy if your hand is too strong. In that event, the chances are that neither the opener's partner nor your partner can keep it open for you. In the end you may find yourself playing against a suit bid of one which is not doubled, whereas there might be a game for your side if you had taken definite steps toward it in the beginning.

In the duplicate game where the players battled over this deal, every West but one doubled South's opening bid and as a consequence eventually got into 3 No Trumps South in every case scored three spade tricks against it and led a fourth to the J, whereupon West ran nine consecutive tricks.

Table 2 however, had in the West position a chap who was hot after clear top scores. He decided that the thing to do was to mask his batteries by making a trap pass, so he could wallop his opponents on the next or some later round But there wasn't any next round When North and East had to pass, South was left in 1-Spade. It was set exactly one trick by the defense West put up, leading clubs at every chance That enabled South to get tricks with his two little trumps by ruffing, plus three with his big spades and one in hearts. A different defense might have set him two, but never could have given West a score approaching the value of his game.

A trap pass is a good legitimate device, used by all good players at times, but should never be tried with a hand so strong that two passes after it are likely

Try and Stop Me

—By Bennet Cerf

ROYCE HOUSE'S tall tales of Texas have become legendary. The air is so bracing down there, he avers, that the State Chamber of Commerce had to hire an Easterner to shoot himself so they could start a cemetery.

At the last minute, the Easterner sued his bargain and ran for his life. Pistol Pete lassoed him, and declared when he brought him in, "This dude was runnin' so fast his vest pocket was dippin' up sand"

In a remote corner of the state, the first motorcycle Sam'l ever had seen chugged by Sam'l seized his rifle and fired 'Git the varmint?" asked his wife. "Nope," said Sam'l. "I still hear the critter but I shore made it turn that man loose"

A few weeks later, Sam'l enjoyed his first train ride, but got into a bit of a row with the news butcher He bought a banana, and the next time the butcher came through the car he demanded his money back. "That thing you sold me," he claimed, "has got too much cob"

And, of course, there's Pyote, Texas. Pyote is the only town in the U S A. that has a sign reading, 'You are now entering our city," and is able to use the back of the same sign for You are now leaving our city"

Tomorrow's Problem.

Those whose birthday it is may run into a year in which affairs may seem to run down, with delays, disappointments, restrictions or limitations. This through want of funds, by stubborn obstacles, or possibly through fagging health or loss of enthusiasm However there is hint of a prolific and progressive circumstance born of an inner urge or intuition, perhaps a clever "hunch," of a strategic and productive move, to break up the static situation

A tendency to unfriendly words, to egotism and conceit, should be curbed if best returns and happiness are to maintain in business as well as intimate relations. In all aggravating contacts keep composed and amiable

WHY NO MEAT?

On June 29 all meat counters were bare.

Then, as if by magic, there appeared so much meat during July and August, they were begging housewives to take it away (if you had the price!)

On September 9th, the mystery of the disappearance of meat deepens.

The headlines scream "famine," "meat crisis," "meat shortage."

What's It All About? Why No Meat? Is There Really A Meat Shortage?

These are questions all Americans, who work for a living and need meat, are asking.

THE ANSWER

The answer to these questions lies in the great meat packing industry, which slaughters and processes the nation's meat supply. The meat packers have it within their power to provide all the meat this country needs. THEY ALSO HAVE THE POWER NOT TO PROVIDE IT.

Is all this ballyhoo true that there is a shortage of meat or a shortage of cattle? A man who should know, P. O. Wilson, executive secretary, National Livestock Producers Association, has this to say. "THERE IS NO SHORTAGE OF BEEF. THE INDUSTRY PROVED BEFORE THE CONTROL BOARD THAT THE TOTAL MEAT SUPPLY IS ADEQUATE."

THESE STATEMENTS ARE GOOD TO REMEMBER WHEN YOU GO TO YOUR CORNER BUTCHER AND CAN'T GET ANY MEAT. THEY ALSO HELP TO PIN RESPONSIBILITY FOR MEATLESS DAYS WHERE IT BELONGS . . . IN THE LAPS OF THE BIG MEAT PACKING MONOPOLIES, AND PROVE THE FACT THAT THE MEAT SHORTAGE IS NOT THE FAULT OF THE CORNER BUTCHER AND THE OPA.

If the Big Four . . . Swift & Co., Armour & Co., Wilson & Co. and Cudahy Packing Company . . . can make fabulous profits by producing, then it produces. THESE BIG PACKERS ARE ON AN HONEST TO GOODNESS SIT-DOWN STRIKE AGAINST THE NATION. THEY REFUSE TO PRODUCE UNTIL ALL PRICE CONTROLS ARE SCRAPPED AND THEY CAN WALLOW IN LIMITLESS, UNCONTROLLED PROFITS.

How do they get away with this sitdown strike? WHAT ABOUT THE FARMER'S LIVESTOCK? WHAT ABOUT THE SMALL PACKERS?

One method the big packers use is they just don't buy. THEIR BUYERS STAND AROUND IN THE STOCKYARDS WITH THEIR HANDS IN THEIR POCKETS, UNDER ORDERS NOT TO MAKE ANY PURCHASES OF CATTLE, EVEN WHEN THERE'S PLENTY TO BUY.

The big packers don't worry about the small packers because they know the small packer's production capacity is limited. IT'S THE BIG BOYS WHO SLAUGHTER THE BULK OF THE NATION'S MEAT SUPPLY. THEIR MONOPOLY CONTROL OF THE INDUSTRY GUARANTEES THEM AN ASSURED MARKET UNDER ANY AND ALL CIRCUMSTANCES.

ARE THE PACKERS LOSING MONEY?

The packers are passing out the ballyhoo throughout the land that the only solution to the meat problem is to remove all price controls and kill OPA. They pass the line that they can't operate under present ceilings . . . Let's check the records on this one.

DURING THE FIRST SIX MONTHS OF THIS YEAR, ARMOUR & Co. REPORTED A NET PROFIT OF $9,700,000 and this was under the old price ceilings. Added to this they have reecived sizeable increases over those old price ceilings, in effect up to June 30, and people will be paying 10 cents more per pound for beef.

Under the tax law passed by the last session of Congress, they get back from the U. S. Treasury, from the excess profits reserve fund, enough money to cover all losses. THE PACKERS WILL ALSO RECEIVE $400,000,000 THAT THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT WILL PAY OUT IN SUBSIDIES TO THE MEAT PACKING INDUSTRY BETWEEN NOW AND JANUARY, 1947.

WHO LOSES IN THE MEAT STRIKE?

FOR THE PACKERS, WHO HAVE THEIR PROFITS PROTECTED BY THE TAX LAW AND THEIR MARKETS PROTECTED BY THEIR MONOPOLISTIC CONTROL, WHETHER THEY PRODUCE OR THEY DON'T PRODUCE . . . THEY WIN. For them, it's "heads . . . I win, tails . . . you lose.

But for the consumer the story is different. THE MEAT STRIKE WILL MAKE THE NECESSARY BASIC FOODS ALMOST NONEXISTENT AND IMPAIR THE HEALTH OF MILLIONS OF AMERICANS.

Consumers are not the only ones to suffer from the big packers' ability to turn the meat supply on and off as they please, like water from a faucet. PACKINGHOUSE WORKERS WILL BE THROWN OUT OF WORK BY THE THOUSANDS AND SERIOUSLY ENDANGER THEIR LIVING STANDARDS.

IF THE AMERICAN CONSUMER FAILS TO ACT NOW, AND ALLOWS THE BIG PACKERS TO WIN THIS STRIKE AGAINST THE PUBLIC, BY FALLING FOR THEIR "GAG" THAT KILLING OPA IS THE ANSWER . . . THE PRICES WILL BREAK ALL RECORDS. ANY FURTHER INCREASES IN THE PRICES OF MEATS WILL MAKE A WEDGE FOR INCREASES IN ALL OTHER PRICES AND FORCE FURTHER BURDENS ON AMERICAN WORKERS BY SWELLING THEIR ALREADY SKY-ROCKETED LIVING COSTS.

What Is the Next Move of the Public?

WHAT ARE THE AMERICAN PEOPLE GOING TO DO about this sit-down strike of the Big Meat Packing Monopolies?

1. Every consumer must shower President Truman with a demand TO LAUNCH AN IMMEDIATE FEDERAL INVESTIGATION OF THE CONSPIRACY OF THE PACKERS AGAINST THE NATION. NO WHITEWASH, BUT A REAL INVESTIGATION, PULLING NO PUNCHES, CONDUCTED BY A COMMITTEE OF PROMINENT CITIZENS, WHO HAVE THE CONFIDENCE OF THE AMERICAN PUBLIC.
2. WE SHOULD URGE PRESIDENT TRUMAN TO CALL A SPECIAL SESSION OF CONGRESS TO CONSIDER LEGISLATION PREVENTING ARTIFICIAL SHORTAGES AND BLACK MARKETS.
3. WRITE PRESIDENT TRUMAN URGING HIM TO REQUEST THE RESIGNATION OF SEC'Y OF AGRICULTURE ANDERSON WHO ALWAYS REPRESENTED THE LARGE FOOD TRUSTS RATHER THAN THE GENERAL WELFARE OF THE FARMERS, WORKERS AND THE PUBLIC IN GENERAL.
4. URGE THE PRESIDENT TO HOLD THE LINE ON PRICES.

FIRM REQUESTS RITTER'S RUN IMPROVEMENT

Dairy Asks County to Repair Channel Through East Side of City.

Long-awaited action in repairing the East First street bridge over Ritter's run and the stream bed under and to the north of it may result from a petition received by the county commissioners today.

The Borden company, which has a dairy plant on the east bank of the stream to the north of East First street, has petitioned the commissioners to improve the stream channel by paving the bottom and putting a solid masonry arch over the stream.

The bridge and stream condition have been a problem for years because of uncertainty as to responsibility for repairing them. The bridge itself is said to be the responsibility of the city of Mansfield. The wingwalls of the bridge jut onto property in the jurisdiction of the county.

The stream is or can be within the jurisdiction of the Mansfield Conservancy district. Private property owners are involved, and the state highway department which routes one of its routes over East First street might even be entangled.

Numerous meetings of city council, the county commissioners, the city and county engineers, the city solicitor and the county prosecutor have been held in attempts to iron out the legalities but no acting steps toward repairing the damage have been taken.

The Borden company's petition now must have a hearing before the commissioners act on it. The commissioners have set Oct. 2 at 10 a. m. as the time for viewing the stream and Oct. 9 at the same hour for the public hearing in their office.

TEAM HONORED. M. H. Pryor, president of the Barnes Manufacturing company, presides at a dinner held last night at Scotty's restaurant honoring the company's softball team, winner of the district championship. Pryor was presented with the tourney cup by team Manager Goble Hall who, in turn, received a gold watch from the team.

AMVETS BACK VETS' COUNCIL

Name Finefrock, Fox to Serve With County Group.

Mansfield Amvets, meeting last night in Memorial hall, voted to participate in the proposed county council of veterans to represent all veterans on a united front in civic matters.

Don Finefrock and Stan Fox were elected to represent the Robert P. Spreng post of Amvets in the council.

Post Commander Robert E. Rogers announced last night a meeting of the state Amvets auxiliary in Mansfield Sept. 29 and appointed a welcoming committee to meet the group.

Donald Cram, Charles Boughton, Walden Kenyon, Mary Jane Bellore and Betty Thompson were named to the welcoming committee.

In response to a request from state Amvet headquarters, Al Bechtel was appointed to represent the post as education chairman on a state committee.

Cram, chairman of the post welfare committee, was charged with obtaining playing cards and sending them to hospitalized veterans in accordance with the state department welfare program

SUSPENDED

Road Worker Penalized By Highway Director.

Earl C Snyder, 382 Altamont avenue, has been suspended for 30 days from his civil service job with the state highway department in Richland county, Director Perry T. Ford announced in Columbus today.

Ford said the civil service commission has been notified of the 30-day suspension, beginning Sept. 18, for "disciplinary reasons." Snyder is an equipment operator in the county maintenance crew.

Clarence G. Tugend, county superintendent of state highways, said only that Snyder had "refused to care for state-owned equipment as instructed." Snyder, a former Tappan Stove company employe, has been with the highway department for approximately one and one-half years, Tugend reported

SETS DEADLINE ON VETS' HOMES

FPHA Says Mansfield Project to Be Done By Dec. 28.

The Federal Public Housing authority has set a Dec. 28 completion date for 50 temporary apartments to be built here for veterans and their families, W. B. Ford, chairman of Mansfield's housing authority, said today.

He said that the FPHA has told him that construction of the 50 units would begin Sept. 30 if land-lease negotiations for the second of two proposed sites are completed before that date.

The 50 apartments will bring to 125 the number of temporary, government-allocated buildings proposed for veterans here. Near Mifflin, 75 other units are nearing completion.

Gets State Check.

Meanwhile, Richland county today received a $164,149 check from the state for use in the construction of temporary homes for veterans.

C. L. Shoup, chairman of the county commissioners, said the money was received today and added that the commissioners are still mapping plans for its use.

For 26 of the proposed 50 apartments the commissioners have leased to the Mansfield Housing authority for five years a plot of Children's Home land, on South Diamond and Helges streets.

Still to be completed are negotiations for the lease of a Grace street site, between Dewey avenue and Cherry street, owned by John Conard.

RETURN TO WORK

Striking CIO Seamen Advised to Accept Parity Wage.

Striking CIO seamen throughout the country were advised today by their leaders to return to work.

The striking seamen who have immobilized thousands of ships in Pacific, Atlantic and Gulf coast ports were ordered to hold meetings and vote on the return to work proposal.

The statement advising an end to the costly maritime strike was issued by the Committee for Maritime Unity, overall strategy board of the CIO maritime strike. The committee based its decision on the arbitration ruling of James L. Fly establishing parity wages for the CIO seamen with AFL maritime workers who had won a pay increase last week.

Sent to Jail For Assault

A North Weldon avenue man was sentenced to 30 days in the county jail today on an assault and battery charge in municipal court. Two others were fined a total of $15 and costs on traffic violation charges.

Sentenced to jail was Leonard Gosson, 120 North Weldon street. He pleaded guilty to an assault and battery charge filed by his wife Esther.

Fined on the traffic charges were William M. Stomps, 266 Vennum avenue $10 and costs, speeding, and James W. Black, East Liverpool, $ and costs, operating a motor vehicle with improper lights.

Burdette E Bissett, of Alton, Ill., forfeited a $5 bond by failing to appear for hearing on a speeding charge.

Like Sister's Arm Charlene's Breaks

Broken right arm troubles struck for the second time in a month last night at the home of two young Stocking avenue sisters.

Mrs. Lucy Denero, 591 Stocking avenue, said her granddaughter, Charlene Stinehour, 6, broke her right arm last night when she fell off of a Johns park swing.

Lovina Stinehour, 10, Charlene's sister, broke her right arm about a month ago when she, too, fell at Johns park, Mrs. Denero said.

PLAN TO MARK HANDICAPPED WORKER WEEK

City Groups Set Up Program For Finding Jobs For Area's Disabled.

Plans for the city's observance of National Handicapped Workers week Oct 6-12 were outlined at a meeting attended by Mayor Roy W. Vaughn and 14 representatives of Mansfield labor, industry, service and civic organizations yesterday afternoon in the U. S. Employment office on North Diamond street.

The group appointed C. W. Handley, manager of the USES office, as program head and authorized him to select a committee to draft the city's observance program.

Handley said following the meeting that he would select a representative committee soon.

Dean Chatlain, field representative of the State Veterans' Employment Service at Columbus, outlined the state employment service program pertaining to handicapped veterans.

Following his talk, spokesmen for each group told how his organization could fit into the program.

The group then summarized the job still to be done toward finding suitable employment for handicapped workers in this area.

A Danish postmaster, Einar Holboli, conceived the idea of the Christmas tuberculosis seal.

New Water Test Well Begun at New London

By HENRY PARNELL
(News-Journal Correspondent)

NEW LONDON—"Test well No. 1, 125 feet deep." Those were the terse words of instruction given C. M. "Perk" Perkins, veteran driller of Peebles and Perkins, who began work this week on the first of a series of test wells to determine a new location for the community's water supply.

The depth, 125 feet, was determined by calculations furnished Eugene Funk, New London waterworks superintendent. The well is being drilled on the property of Homer H. Johnson, about a mile and a half west of New London. Perkins said the figure may vary before a satisfactory vein is struck. If, when such a vein is struck and water proves satisfactory, two other test wells will be drilled in the same seam about a quarter of a mile apart. Otherwise, a new location will have to be found. "Perk" asserted. The drilling rig, operated by Perkins, is mounted on a specially built truck, with its own engine for running the hoist. A two-inch manila cable operates the tripartite drill. The "nose", with its bit that burrows into earth and rock, the "head," long steel shaft into which the nose is screwed and the "cable hitch," shorter section of steel shaft screwing into the head and which is fastened to the cable, has a combined weight of 1,600 pounds.

VETERAN WELL DRILLER: C. M. Perkins, Huron county's seasoned driller of wells, this week began operations on the new 125-foot well near the village of New London in an attempt to secure a larger water supply for the community.

By means of a special type cam drive, the cable with the drill attached, continuously rises and drops into the hole, steadily going deeper. Another manually operated lever keeps the cable taut, yet at the same time allows enough play as the bit digs deeper.

Every four or five feet, the operator stops the rig, hoists the drill, pours in several gallons of water, making a soft mess of the dirt collected and sends down another hollow tube of the same size that proceeds to clean out the hole. The drill then goes back into the hole to start all over again.

Speed in digging depends largely upon the ground strata encountered. An average group speed is five feet per hour, although this will vary, especially where rock strata is encountered. The drill will go through, however, even though more time is taken. Strange as it may seem, a hard rock formation, on which the bit will bounce and fly, is easier on the drill than soft rock, which compels the operator to stop oftener and "dress" up the point.

Perkins said this well, of eight-inch bore, showed every indication of "caving" as he went deeper and to stop this, he was driving steel casing as the shaft went down.

Providing this one hole is satisfactory, the two other wells will be ten inch bore and part of the water derived from them, will be used to help fill a proposed 30-acre conservation lake.

Home-Buying Vets Must Wait Longer

Renters of houses offered for sale in Mansfield won a bit of leeway today when OPA in Washington ruled that veterans who buy houses for their own use must wait four months before evicting present tenants in cities where non-veteran owners must wait six months.

Formerly OPA's area rent directors could waive part or all of the waiting period for a veteran owner under special circumstances

In Mansfield, renters are given three months to vacate for a veteran buyer and six months for a non-veteran.

Discuss Rural Fire Defense

BUCYRUS — Another move to provide rural fire protection for Crawford county brought up for consideration from time to time during the last five years, was again developing with representatives of five townships and city officials in discussion on the project.

At a meetng of these officials Wednesday at the courthouse, it was agreed that city officials will submit a proposal to the townships within a few weeks for study.

Townships interested in the program are Holmes, Bucyrus, Liberty, Whetstone and Dallas. Another meeting will be scheduled early in October to further promote the plan.

50th Anniversary Will Be Observed

CRESTLINE—Plans for observance of the 50th anniversary of the organization of Tabitha society of Calvary Reformed church were made at a meeting of the society held in the church parlors Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. John Zwahlen presided and named Mrs. W. L. Margard, Mrs. W. E. Lyman and Mrs. Floyd Kreps as the program committee for the observance which will be held at the next regular meeting, Oct. 16 .

POSTS $50 BOND

GALION—Clifford Fry, of 141 West Parson street, posted a $50 bond late Wednesday for his appearance Monday in Mayor William Amann's court, following an assault and battery charge filed by his wife, Beulah.
